Apollo Heroes Reported In 'Great Shape'

ABOARD USS YORKTOWN (AP) — The Apollo 8 astronauts continue physical debriefings aboard this carrier today before flying to the United States and a belated Christmas with their families.

"They're in great shape," reported Dr. Clarence A. Jernigan, a space agency physician aboard the carrier.

Jernigan said Air Force Col. Frank Borman, Navy Capt. James A. Lovell Jr. and Air Force Maj. William A. Anders seemed to be in better condition than many astronauts who returned from earth orbital missions.

"They look great and are looking better all the time, completely alert and very happy," Jernigan commented after the astronauts completed an extensive five-hour examination following their pinpoint splashdown in the Pacific Ocean Friday.

The astronauts had been in space for six days, three hours, during which they soared outward toward the moon for 69 hours, circled it for 20 hours, then made a 58-hour run back to their home planet.

They landed in darkness within three miles of this carrier and were quickly retrieved by helicopter. The landing point was 1,043 miles southwest of Hawaii.

Borman, Lovell and Anders planned to fly off the carrier about 5 p.m. EST today, heading for Hickam Air Force Base, Hawaii, where they are to transfer to a C141 transport plane for a flight to Ellington Air Force Base, Tex., near their Houston homes.

They are to arrive at Ellington at 5 a.m. Sunday, where their families will be waiting to welcome them.

After a late Christmas celebration, the astronauts will begin nine days of intensive debriefings in which experts will question them about all aspects of the flight, from the performance of the Saturn 5 rocket that fired them away from earth, to their views of the lunar surface and the performance of their spaceship.

They've already described the moon as being a colorless, desolate spot, highlighted by boulder-strewn plateaus, crater-pocked plains and rugged mountains.

But preliminary analysis of what they saw and learned has strengthened America's desire to land men on the moon next year. The astronauts reported they had no trouble detecting land features or navigating (Turn to APOLLO, Page 3)

Councils Take Action Vehicle Fee Okayed Here; Wellsville To Follow Suit

Money Will Be Used For Street Work

Wellsville Council Also Clears Way For Bids On Truck

East Liverpool Council gave approval this morning to legislation providing for a municipal $5-a-year motor vehicle tax that will yield an estimated $45,000 annually for street programs and Wellsville Council Friday night ordered legislation prepared to establish a similar levy.

The tax was proposed to Council here Dec. 16 by Councilman Floyd Murray, chairman of the finance committee, who said the city needs additional income to meet rising costs.

HE EMPHASIZED that state law requires all of the money to be spent for street purposes.

"Not a penny of this money will go for wages," he said. "It's strictly for streets."

Murray said he new revenue would allow the city to resume its annual low-cost summer street surfacing and seal-coating program, which was called off in 1968 for lack of funds. The city shares the cost of original surfacing with property owners on a 50-50 basis. Later biennial seal-coatings are applied entirely at the city's expense.

THE LEGISLATION provides the $5 will be collected by deputy registrars at the time the motor vehicle owner applies for his new Ohio tags.

As is the case in the state law, the municipal license covers all types of motor vehicles, including passenger cars, trucks, buses and motorcycles. It also calls for pro-rating the fee for vehicles licensed late in the year. The full $5 charge applies for vehicles registered up until July 15. Between July 16 and Oct. 15, the fee would be three-fourths of the usual charge. Between Oct. 16 and Jan. 15, the charge would be figured at 50 per cent of the usual fee. And from Jan. 16 until April 15, the charge would be at a quarter of the $5 fee. The state also pro-rates the fee for its licenses.

Various types of vehicles are exempt from the tax, including: Any vehicle titled in the name of the State of Ohio or any of its political subdivisions; vehicles used by the board of education, the federal government — including the Post Office Department — and the Ohio Wing of the Civil Air Patrol.

THE PURPOSES for which the funds may be used are broad, but all are related to streets and highways.

The legislation says the money will be used "for the purpose of enforcing and paying the expense of administering this ordinance, and for planning, constructing, improving, maintaining and repairing public roads, highways and streets; maintaining and repairing bridges and viaducts; paying the municipal corporation's portion of the cost of the Ohio Wing of the Civil Air Patrol."

PLANE CRASH VICTIM. A body is brought out past the tangled wreckage of a North Central Airlines Convair which crashed into a hangar at O'Hare Airport Friday night in Chicago. Twenty-seven were killed and 27 injured. (UPI Telephoto)

Missed Runway In Fog And Drizzle

27 Killed, 27 Injured When Plane Slams Hangar At Chicago Airport

CHICAGO (AP) — A North Central Airlines twin-engine plane attempting to land at mist-covered O'Hare International Airport slammed into a hangar and burst into flames.

North Central officials said 27 persons were killed and Cook County (Chicago) authorities said 27 bodies were counted in the wreckage, which burned for more than an hour.

Eight boys, members of a drum and bugle team which had just ended a practice session in the empty hangar, were among the 27 persons admitted to hospitals.

The crash occurred when the plane apparently missed a runway in the fog and drizzle which shrouded O'Hare, the world's busiest airport.

The plane, Flight 458 which originated in Minneapolis, may have had an extra passenger. A North Central spokesman said that an off-duty pilot may have been riding in a jump seat behind the pilot. This would make a total of 46 aboard the plane. Spokesmen for two hospitals near O'Hare said many of the injured persons suffered smoke inhalation.

The pilot, Capt. Marvin A. Payne of Lakeland, Minn., the first officer, Gerald R. Levalley of Bloomington, Minn., and the flight officer, Richard W. M. Kargel of Burnsville, Minn., were killed.

The stewardess, Jean A. Krochek of Minneapolis, was injured.

The fatalities were the first in North Central's 20-year history. The airline operates in 11 Midwestern states and had flown 3.1 billion passenger miles without a fatality.

Forty members of the Vanguard Drum and Bugle Corps of suburban Des Plaines had been practicing in the hangar, which is shared by Braniff and Northwest Airlines, minutes before the turboprop crashed through the front doors and virtually disintegrated and exploded in flames.

Officials said they could not determine why the plane hit the hangar which is about a half-mile east of runway. Federal Aviation Administration controllers said weather conditions were above the minimum for a landing on the intended runway. Visibility was about one mile.

One of the passengers, William DeGroot, 21, of Sioux Falls, S. D., said, "The plane started to rock violently as we approached the airport. No one knew what was going on. The plane jolted . . . I was thrown from my seat. It was hot and it kept getting hotter. People were screaming and calling for help . . . There was a rush of cold air and someone at the door helped us out. Someone put me in an ambulance and brought me to the hospital."

Jeffereie Chiu, 18, a member the Vanduears, said, "There were eight members of the corps and a few airline employees in the hangar. We heard an explosion . . . The plane had already fallen. I looked around to see where my boys were and they ran toward me. They were on fire. We all saw the fire and the walls collapsed toward us."

"I was not hurt," Chiu said, "since I was about 30 feet away from the others. I'm the only one that didn't get burned."

Foreign Leaders, Citizens Laud Apollo 8 Astronauts

By The Associated Press
"It must be great to be an American tonight," a Soviet citizen told an American in Moscow after the return of the Apollo 8 astronauts. A Tokyo cab driver described the moon-circling voyage as "the greatest experience in a lifetime."

The splashdown of the Apollo 8 in the Pacific Ocean Friday sparked praise from foreign leaders and ordinary citizens listening on radio or watching television.

"Great, Great, Great—the World Salutes America," was the headline across the front page of London's Daily Mirror.

"This voyage . . . has added a new dimension to our appreciation that it is indeed one world," said British Prime Minister Harold Wilson in a message to President Johnson.

In Paris, where the U.S. Embassy said its switchboard was jammed with congratulatory calls, one Frenchman watching a satellite broadcast of the recovery on a shop window television said: "I've never had any particular love for Americans, but I'm really happy with their success. The Americans did everything out in the open, not like the others."

Mrs. Toni Seifert, a West German sales clerk, said: "We needed an inspiration and this was almost religious."

Peking Reveals Belatedly Of Another H-Bomb Blast

TOKYO (AP) — Red China announced belatedly today it had exploded "another hydrogen bomb" described as a new device and "thereby successfully conducted another thermonuclear blast."

The U.S. Atomic Energy Commission said 23 hours earlier that the device was set off Friday at the Lop Nor testing grounds in Sinkiang Province of northwest China. It estimated its explosive force at three million tons of TNT.

The Chinese announcement was carried by Peking Radio in a Chinese Language broadcast, followed by an English language communique from the New China (Hsinhua) News Agency.

This was Red China's eighth successful nuclear test since December 1964. The Chinese have announced the other successes on the day they occurred. There was no indication of the cause of the delay in announced this one.

Peking's official New China (Hsinhua) News Agency followed the Chinese language broadcast with a press communique in English.

"China exploded another hydrogen bomb over her west region on Dec. 27, 1968, and thereby successfully conducted another thermonuclear blast," the communique said.

Technicality May Reverse Hancock Vote

A voting technicality in one Hancock County precinct may reverse the apparent election of Sheriff Lou Smoleski.

The West Virginia Supreme Court Friday agreed to hear the dispute between Democrat Smoleski, who won by 27 votes, and Republican challenger Ralph Patrick Jr. The court set a Jan. 8 hearing date.

At the end of a recount the Hancock County Court declared Smoleski the winner with 9,228 votes to 9,201 for Patrick.

But Patrick claimed that none of the ballots cast in Precinct 32 should be counted because they were not endorsed by two duly appointed and legally qualified poll clerks as required by state law.

That precinct, in Butler District of the county, voted 449 for Smoleski and 304 for Patrick.

5 Admirals To Study Loss

High-Level Court To Probe Pueblo

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—A high-level court of inquiry—which can recommend anything from bravery medals to courts martial—has been ordered by the Navy to study the loss of the intelligence ship Pueblo.

The court of five admirals was directed Friday by the Pacific Fleet commander, Adm. John J. Hyland, to "inquire into the circumstances relating to the seizure of the USS Pueblo and the subsequent detention of the vessel and the officers and crew."

Basic issues to be decided include whether the Pueblo's skipper, Cmdr. Lloyd M. Bucher, had the "power to resist" when his ship was taken by the North Koreans.

A spokesman said the court also will consider whether statements allegedly made by the crew members during their 11-month confinement constituted violations of the military Code of Conduct—although the Navy said such violations are "not a criminal offense" and cannot be prosecuted.

The court will not meet for several weeks—until intensive intelligence debriefings of the crewmen is completed. It can only make recommendations to higher officials and has no power to take punitive or disciplinary action, the Navy said.

At the same time, the Navy disclosed that the two top officers and nine other crewmen aboard the Pueblo at the time of its capture were wounded by North Korean gunfire.

One, fireman Duane D. Hodges of Creswell, Ore., was mortally wounded. The injuries of the others have healed, the Navy said. Bucher, the executive officer, Lt. Edward R. Murphy, and the eight other crewmen will receive Purple Heart medals in a ceremony next week.

The Navy also disclosed that Bucher is suffering from physical and emotional exhaustion and has been moved to a private room in a building separate from the other crew quarters at the U.S. Naval Hospital.

In explaining the court of inquiry, Capt. Gale E. Krouse, Pacific Fleet senior judge advocate, told a news conference there "will be no speculation on what could or would" be done to members of the crew for the loss of the ship and for any actions while they were prisoners of North Korea.

"We cannot answer inquiries on any alleged crimes . . . or on the conduct of the crew . . . until the court of inquiry has completed its work," Krouse said.

Krouse said individual circumstances would decide if any of the crewmen violated the military's Code of Conduct, a 1955 executive order signed by President Dwight D. Eisenhower after a study of American prisoners in the Korean War.

The code, a guideline to U.S. servicemen who become prisoners of war, pledges them to "make no oral or written statements disloyal to my country... or harmful to its cause."

An official Navy statement Friday said "failure to observe the guidelines is not a criminal offense."

The court will have subpoena powers to order persons to appear at its sessions, he said.

All sessions, except those bearing on national security, will be public. But live television coverage will not be allowed, said Krouse. The court sessions will be held at the Naval Amphibious Base in nearby Coronado.

China A-Blast

May Emphasize Problem For Nixon

By The Associated Press

Red China has set off another nuclear blast, its seventh since October 1964. This ominous event is bound to underscore a special set of problems for the incoming American president.

The new test Friday, first in 1½ years, was comparable in strength to the last one, a hydrogen bomb blast. This suggests that Red China is getting ready for an attempt to thrust itself forcefully into the long-range missile club.

Once again, the deadly equation looms. If China's emergence as a missile power is regarded as a threat to the United States, there is probably going to be pressure for a new missile buildup which in turn can spur the Russians to a significant step up of their own.

Thus, a China buildup is likely to have a sharply adverse effect on hopes for an East-West meeting of minds which might bring the missile race within the bounds of rationality. China still officially denounces any effort to slow the spread of nuclear weapons as a "gigantic fraud" hatched by Russians and Americans to keep their own big power monopoly.

China's nuclear program, once under way, developed with remarkable speed. The first test of an old-fashioned atom bomb was in October 1964; the second, bigger and more sophisticated, in May 1965; the third a year later. The fourth, in October 1966, was a missile with a range of up to 600 miles and armed with a punch of 20,000 tons of TNT. The fifth was on Christmas Eve 1966 and the sixth in June 1967, a hydrogen bomb.

The program then seemed to bog down. There was evidence of a failure in January 1968. Then the tumultuous cultural revolution seemed to interfere. There were some attacks on scientists for pursuing a "reactionist line" in defense research.

However, the evidence now is that the cultural revolution has been slowed down, if it is not a thing of the past, and that an attempt is being made to restore stability. This would permit scientists to work unhindered, and to go forward in the program again with the speed exhibited in the past.

As they push ahead with their missile program, it is always a possibility that the Chinese will lob a long-range missile into some provocative area—say the Indian Ocean, to frighten non-Communist Asia, or even in the Pacific, perhaps to demonstrate an ability to reach Hawaii. What impact would that have?

It seems likely that the pressures on the Nixon administration then would become intense from two sides: One to step up America's own missile program; the other for an effort to communicate directly with China—perhaps even to recognize Peking—in an attempt to bring it within talking distance.

Bowl Season Hits Full Schedule With 4 Games

By BOB GREEN

The college football bowl season hits full stride today with four games, follows with single games Monday and Tuesday, and caps it all with the Big Four on New Year's Day.

In between, of course, there are the two pro football championships—the National Football League with Baltimore at Cleveland and the AFL with Oakland at the New York Jets—both on Sunday.

The long, long weekend got started Friday night when Richmond upset favored and previously unbeaten Ohio University 49-42 in the Tangerine Bowl at Orlando, Fla.

The explosive passing combination of Richmond quarterback Buster O'Brien and end Walker Gillette was too much for Ohio, 10-0 going into the game.

Today's line-up had Missouri, 7-3, vs. Alabama, 8-2, in the Gator Bowl at Jacksonville, Fla.; Auburn, 6-4, vs. Arizona, 8-2, in the Sun Bowl at El Paso, Tex.; and two games matching all-star teams. Those are the East-West Shrine Game at San Francisco and the Blue-Gray at Montgomery, Ala.

The television schedule, all times EST, has the Gator on ABC-TV at 1:30 p. m., followed by the East-West, also ABC, at 4:30 p. m. The Blue-Gray is on CBS-TV at 1 p. m., followed by the Sun Bowl, also CBS, at 4 p. m.

Eastern runners such as Leroy Keyes and Perry Williams of Purdue and Ron Johnson of Michigan make their team a slight favorite in the East-West game, while Auburn is a 10-11 point favorite over Arizona, which lost its last game after accepting the Sun Bowl bid.

Missouri and Alabama, two of the nation's top defensive units, expect a low-scoring game in the Gator Bowl, though Alabama Coach Bear Bryant said he hoped it would be otherwise.

The Blue-Gray matched Southern speed against the passing of Greg Cook of Cincinnati, with the scoring expected to be high.

The early games next week have Louisiana State, 7-3, and Florida State, 8-2, two teams which have never played each other, matched in the Peach Bowl at Atlanta Monday night, and fast-closing Oklahoma and Southern Methodist, each 7-3, in the Blue Bonnet Bowl at Houston Tuesday night.

Sports Network will televise each game, the Peach Bowl at 8 p. m., EST, and the Blue Bonnet at 7:30 p. m., EST.

The big ones—the Rose, Cotton, Sugar and Orange Bowls—are on New Year's Day, with one of the best line-ups yet.

Eight of the first nine teams in the nation collide in those, including No. 1 Ohio State and No. 2 Southern California in the Rose Bowl, Rugged Ohio State matches its defense, desire and a 9-0 record against Southern Cal and O.J. Simpson, 9-0-1 after a tie with Notre Dame in the regular season finale ruined a perfect record.

Penn State, 10-0 and No. 3 in the nation, plays No. 6 Kansas, 9-1, in the Orange Bowl at Miami Georgia, No. 4, 8-0-2, takes on Arkansas, No. 9, 9-1, in the Sugar Bowl at New Orleans, and Texas, No. 5, 8-1-1, plays Tennessee, No. 8, 8-1-1, in the Cotton Bowl at Dallas.

The television line-up, with all times EST, has the Sugar Bowl at 2 p. m., the Rose Bowl at 5 p. m. and the Orange Bowl at 8 p. m., all on NBC-TV, and the Cotton Bowl on ABC-TV at 2 p. m.

The current favorites include Ohio State by three points, Penn State 2½, Texas 6½ and Georgia 7.

Tax

tion of the costs and expenses of cooperating with the Department of Highways in the planning improvement and construction of state highways; paying the municipal corporation's portion of the compensation, damages, costs and expenses of planning, constructing, reconstructing, improving, maintaining and repairing roads and streets; paying any costs apportioned to the municipal corporation under Section 4909.47 of the Revised Code; paying debt service charges on notes or bonds of the municipal corporation issued for such purposes; purchasing, erecting and maintaining street and traffic signs and markers; purchasing erecting and maintaining traffic lights and signals and to supplement revenue already available for such purposes."

IN PROPOSING the tax Dec. 16, Murray told Council: "If we don't enact this tax, I believe the county will and I think the city might as well have the money."

The municipal auto license tax was authorized in an act of the General Assembly in 1968 which sought to open up new avenues of revenue to financially pressed local governments. The law gave counties the first option to charge such a fee. If the county government does not act, the municipalities in that county may assess the tax, the law provides. More than 30 Ohio counties already have set up the machinery to collect the fee.

The state law authorizes deputy registrars to collect the fees and remit the funds to the state, which then will return them to the local subdivisions concerned.

The law also directed the Ohio Bureau of Motor Vehicles to specify a decal for display on vehicles for which the local tax had been paid.

But Fred Rice, state registrar of motor vehicles, said last week at Columbus the decal system might prove too costly. He suggested eliminating unnecessary paper work by allowing local registrars to mark Ohio registration cards showing that the local tax had been paid.

In proposing the auto license fee, Murray also suggested that Council consider re-enacting an amusement tax and placing a tax on hotel and motel charges as other ways of raising new revenue.

He said he did not seek immediate action on the other two new taxes, but believed Council should keep them in mind for future action.

The city once imposed an admissions tax, which had its principal yield from tickets sold at movie theaters. But the revenue dwindled gradually as the popularity of movies waned with the advent of television. It finally was removed at the urging of theater owners, who said repeal of the tax would help their ailing business.

At Wellsville, Councilmen Robert Taggart and Paul Todd voted against the action to have the tax measure prepared.

Funds from the tax also would be used exclusively there for street improvements, according to the action by Council at the special meeting.

Details of the measure were aired in a caucus session of Council Thursday night.

Wellsville council also approved unanimously a resolution clearing the way for advertising of bids for a new fire truck for which a levy was approved by voters at the Nov. 5 general election. The legislation permitting the advertising is to be presented at the next regular meeting Jan. 7.

It would take more than one million earths to make a ball as large as the sun — and it would take 27 billions suns to make a ball as large as the giant red star "Epsilon Aurigae."

Since Capture Of Pueblo

U.S. Intelligence Ships Avoid North Korean Area

WASHINGTON (AP) — No American intelligence ships have sailed in the international waters off North Korea since the capture of the Pueblo nearly a year ago, although the United States continues to operate similar vessels at various sensitive points around the globe.

Neither the Defense Department nor the Navy will discuss officially operations of these vessels.

However, it is known that the United States operates about a dozen vessels whose chief purpose is intercepting radio communications, gathering data on electronic installations and similar activities.

In addition, many U.S. Navy ships are equipped to do this sort of intelligence-gathering work, although that is not their main purpose.

Authorities of the outgoing Johnson administration and the incoming Nixon administration have made it clear they feel these activities are essential to the security of the United States and will continue.

The Pueblo's mission when it was captured last Jan. 23 was to gather information on radar installations along North Korea's eastern coast and keep tabs on Soviet naval movements in the Tushima Straits area.

Because of the secret nature of the Pueblo's mission, she was not provided with sea or naval escort when the North Koreans captured her.

That policy has continued for the other intelligence ships still operating, because, as Defense Secretary Clark M. Clifford has said, such cover "would destroy their effectiveness."

However, some measures have been taken to try and arrange protection if a supply vessel is attacked, as in the case of the Pueblo. At that time officials said, there were not enough planes to go to the aid of the ship.

Although the Pueblo has not been replaced off North Korea, the United States maintains it has the right to put another intelligence ship, or any other type of vessel in that area, because it involves international waters.

Winter and Your Septic Tank

Unlike humans, who heat their home in winter, or even animals who have hairy bodies to keep them warm, the poor little bacteria in septic tanks and waste disposal systems have no protection against those harsh winter months ahead.

Since a temperature drop of only a few degrees will kill billions of these hard working microbes, the reduced bacteria population becomes incapable of disposing of the waste which enters such systems, resulting in clogged and unsanitary conditions.

These bacteria, mainly the col-on-type, are produced in the human body at a temperature of 98.6° F., and lose their ability to produce their own enzymes for solids liquification as the temperature drops, literally starving to death. Quoting from SEWERAGE and S E W A G E TREATMENT: (1)

"Temperature of sludge digestion — the most practical optimum known as the Mesophilic Range, is between 80° F. and 90° F., preferably about 85° F. As the temperature drops, bacterial action diminishes almost in proportion until at about 50° F. it practically ceases." Naturally, since the temperatures in unheated sewage systems average between 50° F. and 60° F. in winter, it may readily be seen that trouble can be expected.

How Sea-Cal Enzymes Help

Enzymes are not as susceptible to low temperatures as are bacteria, and it has been proven that their liquifying ability continues as low as 35° F. Therefore SEA-CAL takes over the reduction of the solids, producing food in AVAILABLE form for the reduced bacteria population, enabling them to continue their valuable work and to produce clear effluents for transmission to drainfields and cesspools.

Since SEA-CAL also contains strains of virile bacteria by the million per gram, fresh populations are added each time a treatment is made.

For only a few pennies per treatment, for the average home system, SEA-CAL insures year - round protection from costly service problems, and unsanitary conditions.

USE SEA-CAL ENZYME'S REGULARLY ALL YEAR, INCREASING DOSES IN WINTER.

China still officially denounces any effort to slow the spread of nuclear weapons as a "gigantic fraud" hatched by Russians and Americans to keep their own big power monopoly.

China's nuclear program, once under way, developed with remarkable speed. The first test of an old-fashioned atom bomb was in October 1964; the second, bigger and more sophisticated, in May 1965; the third a year later. The fourth, in October 1966, was a missile with a range of up to 600 miles and armed with a punch of 20,000 tons of TNT. The fifth was on Christmas Eve 1966 and the sixth in June 1967, a hydrogen bomb.

The program then seemed to bog down. There was evidence of a failure in January 1968. Then the tumultuous cultural revolution seemed to interfere. There were some attacks on scientists for pursuing a "revisionist line" in defense research.

However, the evidence now is that the cultural revolution has been slowed down, if it is not a thing of the past, and that an attempt is being made to restore stability. This would permit scientists to work unhindered, and to go forward in the program again with the speed exhibited in the past.

As they push ahead with their missile program, it is always a possibility that the Chinese will lob a long-range missile into some provocative area—say the Indian Ocean, to frighten non-Communist Asia, or even in the Pacific, perhaps to demonstrate an ability to reach Hawaii. What impact would that have?

It seems likely that the pressures on the Nixon administration then would become intense from two sides: One to step up America's own missile program; the other for an effort to communicate directly with China—perhaps even to recognize Peking—in an attempt to bring it within talking distance.

Bowl Season Hits Full Schedule With 4 Games

By BOB GREEN

Associated Press Sports Writer

The college football bowl season hits full stride today with four games, follows with single games Monday and Tuesday, and caps it all with the Big Four on New Year's Day.

In between, of course, there are the two pro football championships—the National Football League with Baltimore at Cleveland and the AFL with Oakland at the New York Jets—both on Sunday.

The long, long weekend got started Friday night when Richmond upset favored and previously unbeaten Ohio University 49-42 in the Tangerine Bowl at Orlando, Fla.

The explosive passing combination of Richmond quarterback Buster O'Brien and end Walker Gillette was too much for Ohio, 10-0 going into the game.

Today's line-up had Missouri, 7-3, vs. Alabama, 8-2, in the Gator Bowl at Jacksonville, Fla.; Auburn, 6-4, vs. Arizona, 8-2, in the Sun Bowl at El Paso, Tex.; and two games matching all-star teams. Those are the East-West Shrine Game at San Francisco and the Blue-Gray at Montgomery, Ala.

The television schedule, all times EST, has the Gator on ABC-TV at 1:30 p. m., followed by the East-West, also ABC, at 4:30 p. m. The Blue-Gray is on CBS-TV at 1 p. m., followed by the Sun Bowl, also CBS, at 4 p. m.

Eastern runners such as Leroy Keyes and Perry Williams of Purdue and Ron Johnson of Michigan make their team a slight favorite in the East-West game, while Auburn is a 10-11 point favorite over Arizona, which lost its last game after accepting the Sun Bowl bid.

Missouri and Alabama, two of the nation's top defensive units, expect a low-scoring game in the Gator Bowl, though Alabama Coach Bear Bryant said he hoped it would be otherwise.

The Blue-Gray matched Southern speed against the passing of Greg Cook of Cincinnati, with the scoring expected to be high.

The early games next week have Louisiana State, 7-3, and Florida State, 8-2, two teams which have never played each other, matched in the Peach Bowl at Atlanta Monday night, and fast-closing Oklahoma and Southern Methodist, each 7-3, in the Blue Bonnet Bowl at Houston Tuesday night.

Sports Network will televise each game, the Peach Bowl at 8

tion of the costs and expenses of cooperating with the Department of Highways in the planning improvement and construction of state highways; paying the municipal corporation's portion of the compensation, damages, costs and expenses of planning, constructing, reconstructing, improving, maintaining and repairing roads and streets; paying any costs apportioned to the municipal corporation under Section 4909.47 of the Revised Code; paying debt service charges on notes or bonds of the municipal corporation issued for such purposes; purchasing, erecting and maintaining street and traffic signs and markers; purchasing erecting and maintaining traffic lights and signals and to supplement revenue already available for such purposes."

IN PROPOSING the tax Dec. 16, Murray told Council: "If we don't enact this tax, I believe the county will and I think the city might as well have the money."

The municipal auto license tax was authorized in an act of the General Assembly in 1968 which sought to open up new avenues of revenue to financially - pressed local governments. The law gave counties the first option to charge such a fee. If the county government does not act, the municipalities in that county may assess the tax, the law provides. More than 30 Ohio counties already have set up the machinery to collect the fee.

The state law authorizes deputy registrars to collect the fees and remit the funds to the state, which then will return them to the local subdivisions concerned.

The law also directed the Ohio Bureau of Motor Vehicles to specify a decal for display on vehicles for which the local tax had been paid.

But Fred Rice, state registrar of motor vehicles, said last week at Columbus the decal system might prove too costly. He suggested eliminating unnecessary paper work by allowing local registrars to mark Ohio registration cards showing that the local tax had been paid.

In proposing the auto license fee, Murray also suggested that Council consider re - enacting an amusement tax and placing a tax on hotel and motel charges as other ways of raising new revenue.

He said he did not seek immediate action on the other two new taxes, but believed Council should keep them in mind for future action.

The city once imposed an admissions tax, which had its principal yield from tickets sold at movie theaters. But the revenue dwindled gradually as the popularity of movies waned with the advent of television. It finally was removed at the urging of theater owners, who said repeal of the tax would help their ailing business.

At Wellsville, Councilmen Robert Taggart and Paul Todd voted against the action to have the tax measure prepared.

Funds from the tax also would be used exclusively there for street improvements, according to the action by Council at the special meeting.

Details of the measure were aired in a caucus session of Council Thursday night.

Wellsville council also approved unanimously a resolution clearing the way for advertising of bids for a new fire truck for which a levy was approved by voters at the Nov. 5 general election. The legislation permitting the advertising is to be presented at the next regular meeting Jan. 7.

Since Capture Of Pueblo U.S. Intelligence Ships Avoid North Korean Area

WASHINGTON (AP) — No American intelligence ships have sailed in the international waters off North Korea since the capture of the Pueblo nearly a year ago, although the United States continues to operate similar vessels at various sensitive points around the globe.

Neither the Defense Department nor the Navy will discuss officially operations of these vessels.

However, it is known that the United States operates about a dozen vessels whose chief purpose is intercepting radio communications, gathering data on electronic installations and similar activities.

In addition, many U.S. Navy ships are equipped to do this sort of intelligence-gathering work, although that is not their main purpose.

Authorities of the outgoing Johnson administration and the incoming Nixon administration have made it clear they feel these activities are essential to the security of the United States and will continue.

The Pueblo's mission when it was captured last Jan. 23 was to gather information on radar installations along North Korea's eastern coast and keep tabs on Soviet naval movements in the Tsushima Straits area.

Because of the secret nature of the Pueblo's mission, she was not provided with sea or naval escort when the North Koreans captured her.

That policy has continued for the other intelligence ships still operating, because, as Defense Secretary Clark M. Clifford has said, such cover "would destroy their effectiveness."

However, some measures have been taken to try and arrange protection if a supply vessel is attacked, as in the case of the Pueblo. At that time officials say, there were not enough planes to go to the aid of the ship.

Although the Pueblo has not been replaced off North Korea, the United States maintains it has the right to put another intelligence ship, or any other type of vessel in that area, because it involves international waters.

North Korea claims the Pueblo violated its territorial waters. The American officials have denied this.

The United States is not alone in maintaining such intelligence operations.

New Federal Government Due

Czech Premier's Regime Has Agreed To Step Out

PRAGUE (AP) — The government of Premier Oldrich Cernik unanimously agreed today to resign so a new federal regime can take office Jan. 1, Prague Radio reported.

The broadcast said Cernik presided at the final meeting of his government today and stated that "from Jan. 1 the new federal system will take effect." "He recommended therefore that the present government should resign and hand its resignations to President Ludvik Svoboda," the broadcast added. "The ministers approved this proposal unanimously."

There was no word on when the resignations would be submitted to Svoboda, but this was expected shortly.

The new government, expected to be headed by Cernik as premier but with a smaller Cabinet, is to be announced later, probably by Svoboda in a New Year's address to the nation.

A high ranking Soviet delegation arrived Friday and is holding closed door talks with Czechoslovak leaders. The Soviet delegation, headed by Communist party secretary Konstantin F. Katushev, did not announce the purpose of its visit. But diplomatic sources said it probably came to check on Czechoslovakia's plans to change to a federal system of government.

Katushev, the Soviet party secretary in charge of relations with ruling Communist parties, plays a key role in Soviet efforts to assure the "normalization" of Czechoslovakia after the August invasion.

The Soviet Union was said to have opposed earlier Czechoslovak plans to decentralize government authority under the new federal system.

Party sources have repeatedly said that the federal government will again be headed by Cernik as premier and will not contain any surprising changes in his cabinet. They say the idea is to decentralize some authority rather than radically change personnel.

But the arrival of the Soviets touched off speculation that personalities also may be under discussion.

Apollo

around the moon, and they said a spot picked as a likely landing zone "is a very good one indeed."

Space officials at Houston told a news conference that they were optimistic that the Apollo 8 flight would lead the way to lunar landings, large space stations and trips to the planets.

The Apollo 9 flight, scheduled Feb. 28, will be an earth orbit mission with the main goal of testing the Lunar Module, the space taxi which is to drop two astronauts to the lunar surface while the third orbits in the main Apollo ship.

Apollo 10 is to follow in May. It presently is planned as a moon orbit flight in which two astronauts will fly as close as 50,000 feet of the surface in a lunar module.

If there are no problems on these two flights, Apollo 11 probably will attempt a moon landing next July or August. The crew for that flight will be named in January.

On the carrier, the astronauts discussed several aspects of their flight.

Lovell said he was particularly impressed by the second ignition of the Saturn 5 third stage, the burn that increased their speed to 24,200 miles an hour and sent the astronauts hurtling toward the moon.

"Man, what a feeling," Lovell said. "You could tell it was really hauling the mail. I wondered if we'd ever get back watching the world get smaller and smaller."

The Yorktown recovered the floating spaceship more than two hours after landing and hauled it on deck. Borman, inspecting it later, said: "I know one thing. That's a real good piece of gear."

The medical examinations were so extensive that not even a telephone call from Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey could interrupt them.

He did, needle and all.

Earlier, President Johnson phoned and told the astronauts they had ushered the world into a new era.

"We rejoice that you're well and we send you congratulations from all your fellow countrymen and all peace-loving people of the world."

ican, "Magnificent! Splendid Signor, my compliments."

Pope Paul VI, who watched the Apollo 8 recovery on television in his Vatican apartment later sent President Johnson a telegram saying:

"Giving thanks to God for the successful completion of the magnificent enterprise of the Apollo 8 mission, we congratulate you and the people of the United States of America and particularly the intrepid space travelers, and invoke divine blessings upon all contributing to this noble achievement."

In Warsaw, about 250 Poles gathered in the lobby of the U.S. Embassy and broke into cheers when told the spacecraft was safely down.

East German television gave the facts of the mission and made no comment. It allotted Apollo the same amount of television time as a report on a new Soviet bus.

Czechoslovaks received a satellite television broadcast of the recovery and a radio commentator in Prague said "In some countries the communications media did not devote appropriate attention to this courageous step in man's path to the moon."

Radio Moscow and Tass, the Soviet news agency, kept Soviet citizens up to date on the final minutes of the flight.

"Due tribute should be paid to the courage and mastery of Frank Borman, William Anders and James Lovell, who have accomplished this outstanding scientific and technical experiment," said Tass.

Ten Soviet cosmonauts followed every step of the mission closely, they said in their congratulatory message to the Apollo 8 crew. They hailed the flight as "another milestone in scientific and technical progress."

A Tokyo fifth grader said: "When I grow up I can visit the moon, thanks to Apollo 8's pioneering orbit around the moon."

Allies Say No Cease-Fire Jan. 1

Cong Make New Offer To U.S. About 3 POWs

SAIGON (AP) — The Viet Cong today broadcast a new offer to meet with U.S. representatives on New Year's Day to negotiate the release of three American prisoners of war. It came only hours after an allied announcement that there will be no cease-fire Jan. 1.

A similar meeting Christmas Day broke down when U.S. representatives charged the Viet Cong tried to lure them into a "propaganda circus."

A U.S. spokesman said today he had no immediate comment on the new offer, broadcast by the Viet Cong's Liberation Radio. But on Friday another spokesman had said the United States is willing to "go anywhere, any time" to negotiate the release of the prisoners.

The prisoners are Spec. 4 James W. Brigham of Ocala, Fla.; Spec. 4 Thomas N. Jones, Lynnville, Ind., and Pfc. Donald C. Smith, Akron, Pa.

The Christmas Day meeting, held during a 24-hour holiday truce, broke down over Viet Cong demands that the American delegation discuss "formalities" prior to talks about freeing the prisoners. The U.S. team of five Army officers said it wanted to discuss only the date, time and place for the prisoner release.

The five Viet Cong representatives said the prisoners were not available and they had no authority in that regard. Instead they invited the U.S. delegates to sit down with them at a table and partake of refreshments.

Earlier today U.S. and South Vietnamese spokesmen announced they will not observe a cease-fire on New Year's Day because of more than 140 enemy violations of the Christmas truce. New Year truces had been observed the past two years.

The Viet Cong broadcast proposed the meeting be held at the same paddyfield site as the Christmas meeting, 50 miles northwest of Saigon near the Cambodian border.

It demanded that American and South Vietnamese forces halt all military operations near the meeting site and also respect the 72-hour New Year's cease-fire called by the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front.

A spokesman for the U.S. Mission in Saigon said: "I'd prefer not to comment until we've studied the text." He said Washington authorities would want to study some aspects of the proposed cease-fire before reaching a decision.

The Viet Cong broadcast said the NLF "appeals to all U.S. pacifist organizations to cooperate in the release of the U.S. prisoners, to create all proper conditions so they can soon be reunited with their families."

Military spokesmen said 17 person were killed during the 24-hour Christmas cease-fire. Two U.S. soldiers, two civilians and 13 South Vietnamese troops — and 71 persons were wounded.

Fierce, close-quarter fighting was reported on the approaches to South Vietnam's two largest cities, and the U.S. Command announced it has closed Camp Carroll, a major artillery base 100 miles north of Da Nang.

Allied forces claimed killing 236 enemy in four battles Friday along the approaches to Saigon and South Vietnam's second largest city, Da Nang. U.S. losses were two killed and 27 wounded, while government losses were 27 killed and 66 wounded.

The fighting was at such close quarters soldiers said they saw the pith helmets and green uniforms of North Vietnamese soldiers.

The heaviest battle flared about 20 miles southwest of Da Nang where thousands of U.S. Marines and South Vietnamese rangers are trying to clean out enemy support troops and supply bases serving North Vietnam's 2nd Division.

About 800 South Vietnamese rangers smashed into North Vietnamese troops and claimed they killed 114. They also reported capturing 29 assault rifles, two rocket launchers and a machine gun.

The rangers claim they have killed 347 enemy troops and have lost 38 dead and 136 wounded this week.

A force of 150 infantrymen of the U.S. 1st Division, supported by bombers and helicopter gunships, claimed killing 41 enemy in a 4 1/2-hour battle 64 miles north of Saigon. U.S. casualties were two dead and 27 wounded.

A U.S. spokesman said Marines have abandoned Camp Carroll, an artillery base six miles below the demilitarized zone whose 175mm cannon once penetrated far into North Vietnam from the Laotian border to the South China Sea.

The spokesman said bulldozers began to raze the base earlier this month, but it was not announced until today for security reasons. The spokesman said abandonment of the base meant "a shift in power."

The Saigon government reported to the International Control Commission today that North Vietnamese and Viet Cong forces "have intensified their activities directed against South Vietnamese people in flagrant violation of the 1954 Geneva agreements on Vietnam."

The protest note listed 100 cases of shelling, armed attacks, terror and assassinations which it said were typical of "war crimes committed by the Communists against the South Vietnamese people in November 1968." The note said "312 persons were killed, 977 wounded and 70 kidnapped."

The name "America" was first applied to central Brazil, in honor of Amerigo Vespucci, who claimed its discovery. It was first applied to the whole known western world by Mercator, the geographer, in 1541.

The two most famous whirlpools in the Old World are Charybdis, between Sicily and Italy, and Maelstrom, off the coast of Norway. Probably the most famous in the New World is the whirlpool at Niagara.

New Federal Government Due
Czech Premier's Regime Has Agreed To Step Out

PRAGUE (AP) — The government of Premier Oldrich Cernik unanimously agreed today to resign so a new federal regime can take office Jan. 1, Prague Radio reported.
The broadcast said Cernik presided at the final meeting of his government today and stated that "from Jan. 1 the new federal system will take effect."
"He recommended therefore that the present government should resign and hand its resignations to President Ludvik Svoboda," the broadcast added. "The ministers approved this proposal unanimously."
There was no word on when the resignations would be submitted to Svoboda, but this was expected shortly.
The new government, expected to be headed by Cernik as premier but with a smaller cabinet, is to be announced later, probably by Svoboda in a New Year's address to the nation.

around the moon, and they said a spot picked as a likely landing zone "is a very good one indeed."

Space officials at Houston told a news conference that they were optimistic that the Apollo 8 flight would lead the way to lunar landings, large space stations and trips to the planets.

The Apollo 9 flight, scheduled Feb. 28, will be an earth orbit mission with the main goal of testing the Lunar Module, the space taxi which is to drop two astronauts to the lunar surface while the third orbits in the main Apollo ship.

Apollo 10 is to follow in May. It presently is planned as a moon orbit flight in which two astronauts will fly as close as 50,000 feet of the surface in a lunar module.

If there are no problems on these two flights, Apollo 11 probably will attempt a moon landing next July or August. The crew for that flight will be named in January.

On the carrier, the astronauts discussed several aspects of their flight.

Lovell said he was particularly impressed by the second ignition of the Saturn 5 third stage, the burn that increased their speed to 24,200 miles an hour and sent the astronauts hurtling toward the moon.

"Man, what a feeling," Lovell said. "You could tell it was really hauling the mail. I wondered if we'd ever get back watching the world get smaller and smaller."

The Yorktown recovered the floating spaceship more than two hours after landing and hauled it on deck. Borman, inspecting it later, said: "I know one thing. That's a real good piece of gear."

The medical examinations were so extensive that not even a telephone call from Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey could interrupt them.

He did, needle and all.

Earlier, President Johnson phoned and told the astronauts they had ushered the world into a new era.

"We rejoice that you're well and we send you congratulations from all your fellow countrymen and all peace-loving people of the world."

Allies Say No Cease-Fire Jan. 1 Cong Make New Offer To U.S. About 3 POWs

SAIGON (AP) — The Viet Cong today broadcast a new offer to meet with U.S. representatives on New Year's Day to negotiate the release of three American prisoners of war. It came only hours after an allied announcement that there will be no cease-fire Jan. 1.

A similar meeting Christmas Day broke down when U.S. representatives charged the Viet Cong tried to lure them into a "propaganda circus."

A U.S. spokesman said today he had no immediate comment on the new offer, broadcast by the Viet Cong's Liberation Radio. But on Friday another spokesman had said the United States is willing to "go anywhere, any time" to negotiate the release of the prisoners.

The prisoners are Spec. 4 James W. Brigham of Ocala, Fla.; Spec. 4 Thomas N. Jones, Lynnville, Ind.; and Pfc. Donald C. Smith, Akron, Pa.

The Christmas Day meeting, held during a 24-hour holiday truce, broke down over Viet Cong demands that the American delegation discuss "formalities" prior to talks about freeing the prisoners. The U.S. team of five Army officers said it wanted to discuss only the date, time and place for the prisoner release.

The five Viet Cong representatives said the prisoners were not available and they had no authority in that regard. Instead they invited the U.S. delegates to sit down with them at a table and partake of refreshments.

Earlier today U.S. and South Vietnamese spokesmen announced they will not observe a cease-fire on New Year's Day because of more than 140 enemy violations of the Christmas truce. New Year truces had been observed the past two years.

The Viet Cong broadcast proposed the meeting be held at the same paddfield site as the Christmas meeting, 50 miles northwest of Saigon near the Cambodian border.

It demanded that American and South Vietnamese forces halt all military operations near the meeting site and also respect the 72-hour New Year's cease-fire called by the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front.

A spokesman for the U.S. Mission in Saigon said: "I'd prefer not to comment until we've studied the text." He said Washington authorities would want to study some aspects of the proposed cease-fire before reaching a decision.

The Viet Cong broadcast said the NLF "appeals to all U.S. pacifist organizations to cooperate in the release of the U.S. prisoners, to create all proper conditions so they can soon be reunited with their families."

Military spokesmen said 17 person were killed during the 24-hour Christmas cease-fire. Two U.S. soldiers, two civilians and 13 South Vietnamese troops — and 71 persons were wounded.

Fierce, close-quarter fighting was reported on the approaches to South Vietnam's two largest cities, and the U. S. Command announced it has closed Camp Carroll, a major artillery base 100 miles north of Da Nang.

Allied forces claimed killing 236 enemy in four battles Friday along the approaches to Saigon and South Vietnam's second largest city, Da Nang. U. S. losses were two killed and 27 wounded, while government losses were 27 killed and 66 wounded.

The fighting was at such close quarters soldiers said they saw the pith helmets and green uniforms of North Vietnamese soldiers.

The heaviest battle flared about 20 miles southwest of Da Nang where thousands of U.S. Marines and South Vietnamese rangers are trying to clean out enemy support troops and supply bases serving North Vietnam's 2nd Division.

About 800 South Vietnamese rangers smashed into North Vietnamese troops and claimed they killed 114. They also reported capturing 29 assault rifles, two rocket launchers and a machine gun.

The rangers claim they have killed 347 enemy troops and have lost 38 dead and 136 wounded this week.

A force of 150 infantrymen of the U.S. 1st Division, supported by bombers and helicopter gunships, claimed killing 41 enemy in a 4½-hour battle 64 miles north of Saigon. U.S. casualties were two dead and 27 wounded.

A U.S. spokesman said Marines have abandoned Camp Carroll, an artillery base six miles below the demilitarized zone whose 175mm cannon once penetrated far into North Vietnam from the Laotian border to the South China Sea.

The spokesman said bulldozers began to raze the base earlier this month, but it was not announced until today for security reasons. The spokesman said abandonment of the base meant "a shift in power."

The Saigon government reported to the International Control Commission today that North Vietnamese and Viet Cong forces "have intensified their activities directed against South Vietnamese people in flagrant violation of the 1954 Geneva agreements on Vietnam."

The protest note listed 100 cases of shellings, armed attacks, terror and assassinations which it said were typical of "war crimes committed by the Communists against the South Vietnamese people in November 1968." The note said "312 persons were killed, 977 wounded and 70 kidnapped."

The name "America" was first applied to central Brazil, in honor of Amerigo Vespucci, who claimed its discovery. It was first applied to the whole known western world by Mercator, the geographer, in 1541.

The two most famous whirlpools in the Old World are Charybdis, between Sicily and Italy, and Maelstrom, off the coast of Norway. Probably the most famous in the New World is the whirlpool at Niagara.

More Middle East Maneuvering

Millions of Christmas greetings have been delivered in one form or another in recent days. One of the most notable went from United Arab Republic President Gamal Abdel Nasser to President-elect Richard Nixon.

The greeting was cabled Christmas Eve, the same day the Soviet Union's Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko and President Nasser issued a joint communique on the Middle East without denouncing the United States.

THE TWO GESTURES back up the contention of Arab informants that Mr. Gromyko's visit to Cairo was to assist President Nasser in planning Arab strategy for negotiating with the Nixon administration on a Middle East settlement.

Word has already been circulating that the United Arab Republic will restore diplomatic relations with the United States as soon as Mr. Nixon takes office next month.

Relations between the nations was severed during the June 1967 Arab-Israeli war when President Nasser claimed President Johnson was aiding Israel.

The Gromyko-Nasser communique was the usual denunciation of Israeli leaders and brought a reply from Israel's Foreign Minister Abba Eban that the statement represented "rigidity in thought, in policy and in formulation."

PRESIDENT-ELECT NIXON and his advisers

are known to be giving a great deal of thought to the Middle East and searching for some means of reducing its explosive potential.

The rigid positions of the Arabs and Israelis, as shown in the communique and the response from Israel, will make an agreement hard to come by.

Re-establishment of relations between the United States and the UAR would not solve the thorny Middle East issues in one fell swoop, but it would represent one step in the logical progression toward accord.

Action Needed

Many district residents who had not been on ice skates for years—or who never had experienced an effortless glide and fall—were treated to the thrill Friday when rain and freezing temperatures made walking a disagreeable gamble with injury.

Many downtown businessmen and homeowners put salt to good use for aiding pedestrians, but far too many did not, and again was heard the plaintive question: How can a commercial center hope to attract shoppers with such poor care of sidewalks, inadequate parking and traffic congestion?

The answer is it can't, and the merchants and the city officials ought to put renewed energy into improving East Liverpool's image in these areas during 1969.

A New Fashion Trend?

The wide range of attire and personal appearances which have become the mode on our streets in the past few years—mini skirts, pant suits, hair curlers, beards, dark glasses, pastel shirts—provide interesting and colorful scenes in addition to confirming personal freedom.

The unconventional clothing has reached the level now that there is little startling in just about any extreme. For example, an attendant at a downtown service station which was robbed Sunday night by a man wearing a ski mask, told police he saw the man enter the office while he was serving an auto. "But I didn't think anything about it," he later told police, "I thought it was some guy acting crazy."

Perhaps we have the start of a new fashion trend in East Liverpool, with face masks to express or hide the inner feelings of the wearer. Who knows, in a few years the ultimate in frightfulness for children may be a bare-faced man in a grey flannel suit.

A Plea For Rioters

Rioters really aren't such bad guys. They are just temporarily insane. And this may be the plea that will enable them to escape or reduce punishment in the future.

This seems to be the gist of a prediction by a law professor at Yale University.

DR. JOSEPH GOLDSTEIN told the American Psychanalytic Association that riotous conditions can dehumanize the individual and strip him of the ability to hold his unconscious instinctive impulses in check.

He suggested that rioters might well be able to develop a form of "temporary insanity" plea at their trials with the aid of psychoanalytic insights into the nature of rioting.

To explain his point, Dr. Goldstein said that "being caught up in a riot at the time of an offense might thus be perceived as evidence casting doubt on the offending actor's voluntariness or intent, which are crucial to establishing guilt for all major crimes."

Dr. Goldstein likened the anonymity which an individual acquires in a crowd to the "loosening" effect of alcohol as it pertains to "the ties between the inner checks which constitute conscience and its many external nourishing forces (parents, friends, police, public opinion, etc.) which are a part of each man's reality."

DR. GOLDSTEIN does warn that if legislators take this factor into account in revising laws, it could result in an open invitation to commit a crime any time a riot occurs. His warning bears heeding.

Perhaps his plea also bears heeding: that courts and lawyers should keep in mind the psychology of crowds, when riot-related offenses—whether by demonstrators or police—come to trail.

The Changing Church

Among the many changes currently being effected within the Roman Catholic Church is one innovation which has been instituted in a parish in Portland, Ore. It is described as an experiment designed to involve the layman more fully in the Mass.

The priests at the church have replaced the traditional sermon with dialogue at the noon Mass.

After introducing the topic for the dialogue, the pastor, with microphone in hand, comes down into the congregation like the star of one of the late-night talk shows and gives his parishioners the opportunity to say what they are thinking.

THE OTHER PRIESTS also take part in the dialogue. Subjects discussed range from religious subjects to political ones such as the obligations of voting.

The Oregon church pastor reports church attendance has increased impressively during the first two months of the dialogue experiment and that many members of the congregation flock around the priests after the Mass to express themselves, apparently because they are reticent to do so during the dialogue proper.

The priests report that the dialogue also stimulates more discussion among families, which is carried back to the home and continued.

The dialogue technique drastically changes the long-standing custom of sermonizing in which the parishioners merely sit, listen and absorb, to one in which each member of the congregation can if he wishes, talk back and speak of the matters which trouble him.

It is a method of communicating the teaching and philosophy of the church in a direct, effective manner but it requires consummate skill and vast knowledge on the part of the clergy to successfully moderate it.

The priests had better have the answers or else they stand to weaken the belief of the faithful. If they are unconvincing in their interpretations and answers, it will be obvious to all.

The dialogue church service is a challenging attempt to keep up with the fast-changing times, to make the Christian message relevant to today and to bolster attendance at Mass.

ALTHOUGH THE DIALOGUE technique has not yet stood the test of time, other parishes are expected to introduce it at some Masses. If it continues to prove successful, it may sweep the country and be adopted by Protestant as well as Catholic churches.

There would seem to be a risk inherent in the technique which could result in greater damage to the authority of the church.

But as in most experiments, the results cannot be known in advance. For these we must wait.

A Big Job

President-elect Richard M. Nixon has the sympathy of most all American citizens as he faces the task before him.

While it is impossible to grasp the magnitude of the whole job, its enormity can be seen in examining just one area he will have to deal with.

As leader of this nation he will be expected to come up with a formula that will slow inflation but not impair the economy.

The size of this critical job is akin to building a pyramid singlehandedly, considering the spending spree the Democrats have been on for the last eight years.

In 1960 federal expenditures were $93 billion. The 1968 total will hit nearly $179 billion—an astronomical increase of 93 per cent.

And this is only one problem lying in wait for the new administration.

As concerns farm help at the Columbiana County Home we have gone along with any request that Mr. Boyce has made. He claims to be his own farm manager and there has never been any question about the farm help wages. Mr. Boyce has had a free hand in all respects.

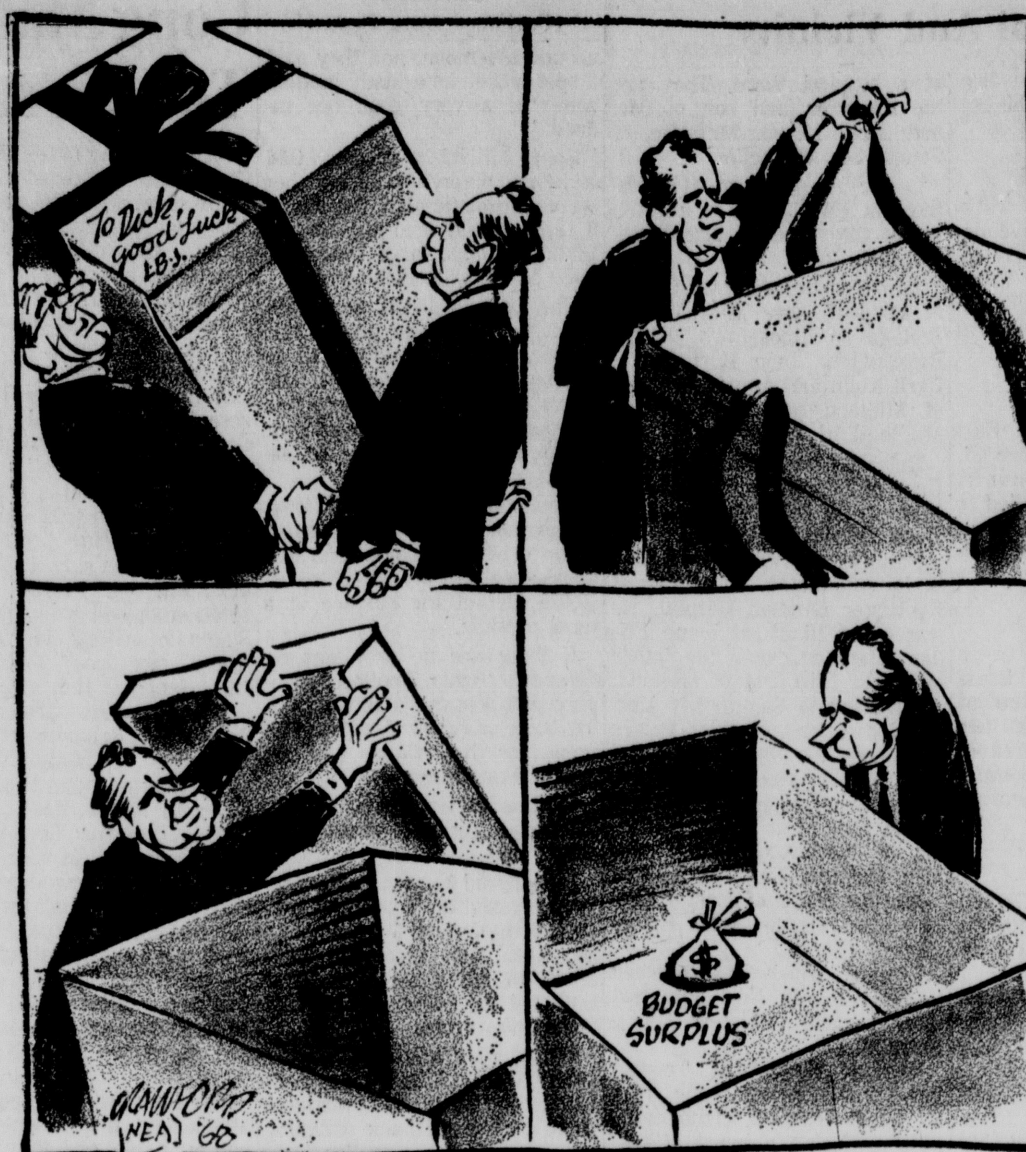

If the narration in Tuesday's paper telling of Dad's (Boyce) great love and sacrifice for the inmates at the County Home, signed by some of the help, had been signed by the inmates and patients, it would indeed have sounded like a sad story.

When Mr. Boyce was appointed as Acting Superintendent of the County Home, we had a Doctor who had for quite some period of time been caring for the patients at the Home. After Mr. Boyce had been there for four or five months, for some reason of which the Commissioners had no control on the part in, the Doctor decided to discontinue visiting the home.

We were able to employ Dr. Rankis for the Home Doctor. Dr. Rankis died of a heart attack in September 1963, and since then we have been unable to locate a doctor for this work. We have even requested help from the Medical Association.

VICTOR RIESEL

Most Corrupt State Probed

NEWARK—There's a blood fraternity made up of us Mafia-watchers, and we regret that William J. Brennan 3rd does not appear to have the judicious temperament of his father, Supreme Court Justice William Brennan 2nd.

The younger Brennan, working with a local New Jersey grand jury, publicly blew the whistle on the Cosa Nostra, at a moment when he should have saved his breath and worked silently in cracking the Mafiosi in what is being erroneously dubbed "the most corrupt state in the nation." There are others which could well bid for this dishonor.

When Brennan charged that there are state legislators cozy with the Cosa Nostra, he ripped the cover off the Justice Dept.'s coordinated Organized Crime and Racketeering Section strike force, which had just begun to prepare to become operative in mid-January.

Now Jerry Catena, the reputed underboss of the Mafia's most powerful "family," whose golfing and dinner companions, and whose congressional contacts would startle even the Justice Dept.'s crime computer, calmly is running witnesses for cover.

Fact is that for weeks before the melodramatic, openmouthed William J. Brennan 3rd charged that New Jersey state legislators are too "comfortable" with Cosa Nostra characters, the Justice Dept.'s Criminal Division already had one of its top racket-busters in action. He works quietly and efficiently, as he has in Kansas City, New England and other parts of the land.

THIS ONE-MAN ANTICRIME "machine" is Jim Featherstone—and it is no coincidence that, until he was moved silently into New Jersey, he was head of the racketeering section's "Labor Desk."

Thus, he came well briefed on the Mafia and its muscling of Jersey labor. He knows well the invasion of garbage collections, dumping of pressure by some of Catena's controlled union officials on a nationwide food chain, and on local stores.

"Young" Jim Featherstone has an encyclopedic feedback memory. He knows that Mafia enforcers have pressured food stores to use certain Mafia infiltrated firms' products, such as detergents, sausages and industrial services. Featherstone, a specialist in muscle operations who has had witnesses killed right from under him, rarely talks. But it's safe to report that he recalls the McClellan Senate anticrime committee's questioning of Jerry Catena.

The alleged underboss tightened up and took the fifth on grounds that it would incriminate him merely to say his firm had union contracts. Or to report with which unions he dealt.

TYPICAL QUESTION ASKED Catena then by the chief counsel, one Robert Kennedy, was: "Could you tell us what local of the Teamsters Union you had contracts with when you had the trucking companies?"

Mr. Catena replied that, "I respectfully decline to answer on the ground it might tend to incriminate me."

Why? And what was the union local? And who were, and are, Catena's friends in the shadowy lanes of the labor movement?

After all, Gerardo Catena is known as a "progressive Mafioso." He is a modern Cosa Nostra chap. He, unlike his alleged bosses on the so-called Cosa Nostra national Commission, would permit ambitious colleagues to come into his territory—so long as he got his cut. Others would kill to protect their territory.

So Jim Featherstone has some untangling to do. Which unions, for example, have been infiltrated by the Jersey mob? What's their connection with some of the construction labor crowd in Baltimore, and in turn with some section of the New York-New Jersey Port "crowd," or with locals reaching in labyrinthine fashion through a network of Midwest states.

ALL THIS COULD BE the skim-off profits of Jim Featherstone's new New Jersey task force. The cracking, even for a moment, of the Cosa Nostra would ease the heartache and terror of thousands of legitimate businessmen and union leaders.

There was such a byproduct of the seven-year probe of the New York Southern District by Regional U.S. Attorney Robert Morgenthau.

Of the 60 Cosa Nostra types he convicted, many, such as the a-human Tony "Ducks" Corallo, or Johnny Dio, or brother Frankie Dio, or uncle James Plumeri, were labor racketeers. Mr. Morgenthau practically ripped (by jailing) the leadership off the Luchese crowd—who take millions of dollars a year in labor racketeering alone.

It was Bob Morgenthau to whom lifer Joe Valachi turned in 1962—and for the first time, the gory inner Cosa Nostra rituals and secrets were revealed.

So some of us Mafia-watchers would like Jim Featherstone and his strike force given a chance to operate for a while.

Who Is Fooling Whom?

Who is fooling whom? This question may be well asked today as it is officially confirmed that the United States signed a "confession" that the Pueblo had strayed into the territorial waters of North Korea, and issued at the same time a statement on its own repudiating the "apology" as absolutely untrue.

The net result, of course, will be to enable the Communist world—North Korea, Red China, the Soviet Union and other countries controlled by Communists—to charge the United States with having sent an espionage vessel to violate the territorial waters of another country, and openly "confessing its guilt."

THIS WILL BE INTERPRETED in Communist circles both as an example of a lack of courage by American and as a sign that acts of aggression or piracy by the Communists are likely to go unpunished in the future. There may be some ill effects in South Korea, too, where there is a deep sensitiveness about anything that is done by the United States to cater to North Korean demands.

So far as the American people are concerned, they probably will say that "all's well that ends well," and that if this was the only way to get the 82 American sailors out of prison, it was a chance worth taking.

Interestingly enough, the whole strategy of "confession" and then repudiation was invented by the American side after 10 months of futile negotiation. The objective was to get the men back home. Since the North Koreans wanted something to "save face," this was offered as a ransom for the release of the men.

The American government through the President and the secretary of state, has made it clear that the document signed by the American general at the conference with the North Koreans is valueless and is at variance with the facts. But people throughout the Communist nations will not learn this, as the press and the radio inside their domain are very carefully controlled.

The United States can communicate its views through a few radio stations near the borders of Communist countries if the messages will get through. But the vast majority of the people will know only that the United States committed an "aggressive act" in venturing into waters close to North Korea and furthermore abjectly issued a confession of "guilt."

As to the Pueblo itself, under international law there is, in a sense, a "state of War" between North Korea and the United States. For, while an armistice agreement was signed in 1953, no peace treaty has ever been consummated between the two sides. The North Koreans could claim that they have a right to seize any United States or South Korean vessel which comes close to their shores. The chances, therefore, of getting the Pueblo back will remain slim until the United States finds some way of exerting pressure on North Korea.

IN RECENT MONTHS there have been some raids into South Korea from the North, and the United States, has, to be sure, at least 55,000 troops in South Korea who could be used in the event that there were extensive guerrilla operations. If warfare broke out between North and South Korea, the United States certainly would become involved. The Communists, however, are convinced that, for the present at least, the United States is anxious not to get into another war. The anti-Vietnam war protests in the United States encourage Communist countries to believe they need have no further fear of American intervention if some of the other countries in the Asian world are subjected to Communist attack.

While the release of the 82 sailors is temporarily a favorable development, it by no means solves the question of what to do about small nations that now are under Communist control and manage to find ways and means of involving the United States in serious controversies, if not war.

More Middle East Maneuvering

Millions of Christmas greetings have been delivered in one form or another in recent days. One of the most notable went from United Arab Republic President Gamal Abdel Nasser to President-elect Richard Nixon.

The greeting was cabled Christmas Eve, the same day the Soviet Union's Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko and President Nasser issued a joint communique on the Middle East without denouncing the United States.

THE TWO GESTURES back up the contention of Arab informants that Mr. Gromyko's visit to Cairo was to assist President Nasser in planning Arab strategy for negotiating with the Nixon administration on a Middle East settlement.

Word has already been circulating that the United Arab Republic will restore diplomatic relations with the United States as soon as Mr. Nixon takes office next month.

Relations between the nations were severed during the June 1967 Arab-Israeli war when President Nasser claimed President Johnson was aiding Israel.

The Gromyko-Nasser communique was the usual denunciation of Israeli leaders and brought a reply from Israel's Foreign Minister Abba Eban that the statement represented "rigidity in thought, in policy and in formulation."

PRESIDENT-ELECT NIXON and his advisers

ers are known to be giving a great deal of thought to the Middle East and searching for some means of reducing its explosive potential.

The rigid positions of the Arabs and Israelis, as shown in the communique and the response from Israel, will make an agreement hard to come by.

Re-establishment of relations between the United States and the UAR would not solve the thorny Middle East issues in one fell swoop, but it would represent one step in the logical progression toward accord.

Action Needed

Many district residents who had not been on ice skates for years—who never had experienced an effortless glide and fall—were treated to the thrill Friday when rain and freezing temperatures made walking a disagreeable gamble with injury.

Many downtown businessmen and homeowners put salt to good use for aiding pedestrians, but far too many did not, and again was heard the plaintive question: How can a commercial center hope to attract shoppers with such poor care of sidewalks, inadequate parking and traffic congestion?

The answer is it can't, and the merchants and the city officials ought to put renewed energy into improving East Liverpool's image in these areas during 1969.

A New Fashion Trend?

The wide range of attire and personal appearances which have become the mode on our streets in the past few years—mini skirts, pant suits, hair curlers, beards, dark glasses, pastel shirts—provide interesting and colorful scenes in addition to confirming personal freedom.

The unconventional clothing has reached the level now that there is little startling in just about any extreme. For example, an attendant at a downtown service station which was robbed Sunday night by a man wearing a ski mask, told police he saw the man enter the office while he was serving an auto. "But I didn't think anything about it," he later told police. "I thought it was some guy acting crazy."

Perhaps we have the start of a new fashion trend in East Liverpool, with face masks to express or hide the inner feelings of the wearer. Who knows, in a few years the ultimate in frightfulness for children may be a bare-faced man in a grey flannel suit. . .

A Plea For Rioters

Rioters really aren't such bad guys. They are just temporarily insane. And this may be the plea that will enable them to escape or reduce punishment in the future.

This seems to be the gist of a prediction by a law professor at Yale University.

DR. JOSEPH GOLDSTEIN told the American Psychanalytic Association that riotous conditions can dehumanize the individual and strip him of the ability to hold his unconscious instinctive impulses in check.

He suggested that rioters might well be able to develop a form of "temporary insanity" plea at their trials with the aid of psychoanalytic insights into the nature of rioting.

To explain his point, Dr. Goldstein said that "being caught up in a riot at the time of an offense might thus be perceived as evidence casting doubt on the offending actor's voluntariness or intent, which are crucial to establishing guilt for all major crimes."

Dr. Goldstein likened the anonymity which an individual acquires in a crowd to the "loosening" effect of alcohol as it pertains to "the ties between the inner checks which constitute conscience and its many external nourishing forces (parents, friends, police, public opinion, etc.) which are a part of each man's reality."

DR. GOLDSTEIN does warn that if legislators take this factor into account in revising laws, it could result in an open invitation to commit a crime any time a riot occurs. His warning bears heeding.

Perhaps his plea also bears heeding: that courts and lawyers should keep in mind the psychology of crowds, when riot-related offenses—whether by demonstrators or police—come to trail.

The Changing Church

Among the many changes currently being effected within the Roman Catholic Church is one innovation which has been instituted in a parish in Portland, Ore. It is described as an experiment designed to involve the layman more fully in the Mass.

The priests at the church have replaced the traditional sermon with dialogue at the noon Mass.

After introducing the topic for the dialogue, the pastor, with microphone in hand, comes down into the congregation like the star of one of the late-night talk shows and gives his parishioners the opportunity to say what they are thinking.

THE OTHER PRIESTS also take part in the dialogue. Subjects discussed range from religious subjects to political ones such as the obligations of voting.

The Oregon church pastor reports church attendance has increased impressively during the first two months of the dialogue experiment and that many members of the congregation flock around the priests after the Mass to express themselves, apparently because they are reluctant to do so during the dialogue proper.

The priests report that the dialogue also stimulates more discussion among families, which is carried back to the home and continued.

The dialogue technique drastically changes the long-standing custom of sermonizing in which the parishioners merely sit, listen and absorb, to one in which each member of the congregation can if he wishes, talk back and speak of the matters which trouble him.

It is a method of communicating the teaching and philosophy of the church in a direct, effective manner but it requires consummate skill and vast knowledge on the part of the clergy to successfully moderate it.

The priests had better have the answers or else they stand to weaken the belief of the faithful. If they are unconvincing in their interpretations and answers, it will be obvious to all. The dialogue church service is a challenging attempt to keep up with the fast-changing times, to make the Christian message relevant to today and to bolster attendance at Mass.

ALTHOUGH THE DIALOGUE technique has not yet stood the test of time, other parishes are expected to introduce it at some Masses. If it continues to prove successful, it may sweep the country and be adopted by Protestant as well as Catholic churches.

There would seem to be a risk inherent in the technique which could result in greater damage to the authority of the church.

But as in most experiments, the results cannot be known in advance. For these we must wait.

A Big Job

President-elect Richard M. Nixon has the sympathy of most all American citizens as he faces the task before him.

While it is impossible to grasp the magnitude of the whole job, its enormity can be seen in examining just one area he will have to deal with.

As leader of this nation he will be expected to come up with a formula that will slow inflation but not impair the economy.

The size of this critical job is akin to building a pyramid singlehandedly, considering the spending spree the Democrats have been on for the last eight years.

In 1960 federal expenditures were $93 billion. The 1968 total will hit nearly $179 billion—an astronomical increase of 93 per cent.

And this is only one problem lying in wait for the new administration.

As concerns farm help at the Columbiana County Home we have gone along with any request that Mr. Boyce has made. He claims to be his own farm manager and there has never been any question about the farm help wages. Mr. Boyce has had a free hand in all respects.

If the narration in Tuesday's paper telling of Dad's (Boyce) great love and sacrifice for the inmates at the County Home, signed by some of the help, had been signed by the inmates and patients, it would indeed have sounded like a sad story.

When Mr. Boyce was appointed as Acting Superintendent of the County Home, we had a Doctor who had for quite some period of time been caring for the patients at the Home. After Mr. Boyce had been there for four or five months, for some reason of which the Commissioners had no control on the part in, the Doctor decided to discontinue visiting the home.

We were able to employ Dr. Rankis for the Home Doctor. Dr. Rankis died of a heart attack in September 1968, and since then we have been unable to locate a doctor for this work. We have even requested help from the Medical Association.

VICTOR RIESEL

Most Corrupt State Probed

NEWARK—There's a blood fraternity made up of us Mafia-watchers, and we regret that William J. Brennan 3rd does not appear to have the judicious temperament of his father, Supreme Court Justice William Brennan 2nd.

The younger Brennan, working with a local New Jersey grand jury, publicly blew the whistle on the Cosa Nostra, at a moment when he should have saved his breath and worked silently in cracking the Mafiosi in what is being erroneously dubbed "the most corrupt state in the nation." There are others which could well bid for this dishonor.

When Brennan charged that there are state legislators cozy with the Cosa Nostra, he ripped the cover off the Justice Dept.'s coordinated Organized Crime and Racketeering Section strike force, which had just begun to prepare to become operative in mid-January.

Now Jerry Catena, the reputed underboss of the Mafia's most powerful "family," whose golfing and dinner companions, and whose congressional contacts would startle even the Justice Dept.'s crime computer, calmly is running witnesses for cover.

Fact is that for weeks before the melodramatic, openmouthed William J. Brennan 3rd charged that New Jersey state legislators are too "comfortable" with Cosa Nostra characters, the Justice Dept.'s Criminal Division already had one of its top racket-busters in action. He works quietly and efficiently, as he has in Kansas City, New England and other parts of the land.

THIS ONE-MAN ANTICRIME "machine" is Jim Featherstone—and it is no coincidence that, until he was moved silently into New Jersey, he was head of the racketeering section's "Labor Desk."

Thus, he came well briefed on the Mafia and its muscling of Jersey labor. He knows well the invasion of garbage collections, dumping of pressure by some of Catena's controlled union officials on a nationwide food chain, and on local stores.

"Young" Jim Featherstone has an encyclopedic feedback memory. He knows that Mafia enforcers have pressured food stores to use certain Mafia infiltrated firms' products, such as detergents, sausages and industrial services. Featherstone, a specialist in muscle operations who has had witnesses killed right from under him, rarely talks. But it's safe to report that he recalls the McClellan Senate anticrime committee's questioning of Jerry Catena.

The alleged underboss tightened up and took the fifth on grounds that it would incriminate him merely to say his firm had union contracts. Or to report with which unions he dealt.

TYPICAL QUESTION ASKED Catena then by the chief counsel, one Robert Kennedy, was:

"Could you tell us what local of the Teamsters Union you had contracts with when you had the trucking companies?"

Mr. Catena replied that, "I respectfully decline to answer on the ground it might tend to incriminate me."

Why? And what was the union local? And who were, and are, Catena's friends in the shadowy lanes of the labor movement?

After all, Gerardo Catena is known as a "progressive Mafioso." He is a modern Cosa Nostra chap. He, unlike his alleged bosses on the so-called Cosa Nostra national Commission, would permit ambitious colleagues to come into his territory—so long as he got his cut. Others would kill to protect their territory.

So Jim Featherstone has some untangling to do. Which unions, for example, have been infiltrated by the Jersey mob? What's their connection with some of the construction labor crowd in Baltimore, and in turn with some section of the New York-New Jersey Port "crowd," or with locals reaching in labyrinthine fashion through a network of Midwest states.

ALL THIS COULD BE the skim-off profits of Jim Featherstone's new New Jersey task force. The cracking, even for a moment, of the Cosa Nostra would ease the heartache and terror of thousands of legitimate businessmen and union leaders.

There was such a byproduct of the seven-year probe of the New York Southern District by Regional U.S. Attorney Robert Morgenthau.

Of the 60 Cosa Nostra types he convicted, many, such as the a-human Tony "Ducks" Corallo, or Johnny Dio, or brother Frankie Dio, or uncle James Plumeri, were labor racketeers. Mr. Morgenthau practically ripped (by jailing) the leadership off the Luchese crowd—who take millions of dollars a year in labor racketeering alone.

It was Bob Morgenthau to whom lifer Joe Valachi turned in 1962—and for the first time, the gory inner Cosa Nostra rituals and secrets were revealed.

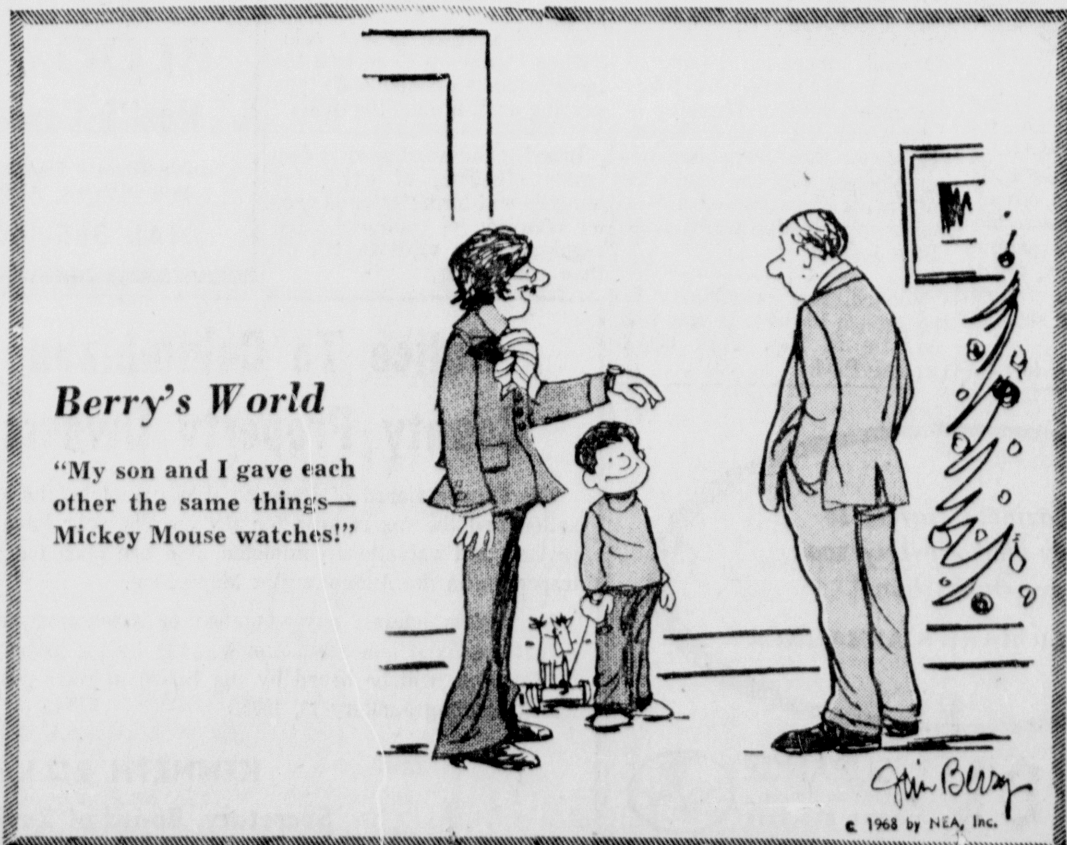

So some of us Mafia-watchers would like Jim Featherstone and his strike force given a chance to operate for a while.

Two Storms Punish Large Part Of U.S.

By The Associated Press

Two major winter storms punished a large part of the nation today and posed a menace to highway travel in the Pacific Northwest and from the central Plains to New England.

Snow, freezing rain and heavy downpours hit an area from Kansas and Nebraska to New England. Dense fog added to the woes of motorists in much of the area.

Severe thunderstorms raced across the South and erupted into tornadoes Friday night in portions of East Texas. Three twisters churned into the Texarkana area. One of the worst whipped through the Texas community of Atlanta and caused some damage in the business district. No deaths or injuries were reported. The tornadoes touched down in more than a half dozen other East Texas areas.

Cold air over the Plains and Midwest turned daylong rains into a highway-glazing mixture during the night. Snow later coated already treacherous roadways.

Travelers warnings were posted from Eastern Kansas and Nebraska into the Northeast. Snow was the rule in the northern Midwest, and heavy snow was forecast for portions of the Northeast by nightfall.

South of the freezing weather, hail and torrential rains swept portions of Alabama and Mississippi. Downpours of 1 to 2 inches ranged northward into Tennessee and Arkansas.

Near Carthage, Mo., one girl was drowned and two others were missing after a rain-swollen stream swept their car off a low-water bridge. Seven other members of their families escaped the raging water.

In the Northwest, a storm centered over Idaho flung snow into nearly all neighboring states and pulled a wave of zero cold into the region. Travelers for parts of Washington, Oregon, Montana and Northern California.

Another storm bearing down on the Oregon coast was expected to spread more heavy snow through the Northwest and spill into Nevada and Utah before Sunday morning.

How Can I? By ANNE ASHLEY

Q.—Please suggest a good way to apply oil stains or water stains to raw wood.

A.—Try using a cellulose sponge, instead of a brush. This will require less dipping, and it will be easier to regulate the amount being applied. Also, the square edges of the sponge help when working in corners or along edges.

Q.—How can I impart a little oiliness to my dustcloths?

A.—By adding a spoonful of lemon oil or any furniture oil to the rinse water when you wash these cloths. Other such household - cleaning hints are included in my handy book.

MOMENT OF MEDITATION

End of the Year

Once again another year is quickly drawing to a close. Another chapter of our lives is closing. As we face the end of the year we always do so with mixed emotions. We are always happy to anticipate the new and better things that are before us. Yet with sadness we view the memories of the past year.

At a time like this, many of us wish to look back over the year that is past and to analyze our mistakes and failures and to fix within our hearts a strong resolve to profit by the mistakes of the past year. Thus we use the past as a stepping-stone to higher and better things. This is as it should be. As we think back over the past year, we want to use this article to stimulate some thought concerning improving our lives in the sight of God. We have some questions which we want to ask to help us focus attention on our obligations toward God.

First, answer this question. During the past year was I a Christian? Surely all will recognize that being a Christian will improve our lives here and will also get us ready for life hereafter. We realize that there are those who laugh and scoff at Christianity. This has always been true. This however, did not keep Paul from being a Christian. Peter did not refuse to be a Christian because of the fact that he would be persecuted if he served the Lord. The greatest way of life that can be lived is the life of a Christian. If your life during the past year has been the Christian life, you will look back with no regret. If you have not been a Christian, why don't you consider seriously becoming one and making the new year the very best one of your life? A person becomes a Christian today in the same way that people became Christians in the day of the Apostle Paul. Paul tried to persuade people to become Christians. When they wanted to know what they had to do to become a Christian, Paul told them that they must believe on the Lord. They had to accept Jesus Christ as the Son of God. Without this kind of faith they could not please God. Heb. 11:6. They also must be baptized for the remission of their sins. Acts 16:30-33. If you want to become a Christian, why don't you follow Paul's instructions?

Another question we would like to ask. During the past year have you worshipped God faithfully? The public services of the church afford to us the opportunity to worship God often. Some people seem to pride themselves in the fact that they only attend services once or twice a year. This kind of service could not please God. Make this year the greatest year of your life. Serve God.

Children Of Pueblo Crew Say 'Tis Christmas Yet'

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — "I miss'd him," Jimmy Boudin, 7, said of his father, Ralph Boudin of Washington, D.C. Jimmy is spending his school's Christmas vacation in San Diego because "I wanted to see my dad."

Sonia Peppard, 10, of Bremerton, Wash., said she would have stayed home "but I missed my daddy." Sonja's father, Donald R. Peppard, is a communications technician first class like Jimmy's dad.

Is daddy different from when they last saw him? Michael Lacy, 11, brother of Janice and Melis a, said with a grin, "He's kind of skinny."

Of the 400 relatives who arrived for a Christmas Eve reunion in San Diego with the freed Pueblo crewmen, only nine families had left by Friday. The Pueblo men are undergoing medical tests and debriefing following their 11 months as captives of North Korea. Thier families came from as far as Japan and the Philippines.

Elaine Wood, 4, skipped across a carpet in the playroom set up Thursday by Red Cross volunteers in El Cortez Hotel, where most of the dependents are staying.

Elaine's 11-month-old sister has seen her father, Elton A. Wood of Fairchild Air Force Base, Wash., for the first time.

Two Storms Punish Large Part Of U.S.

By The Associated Press

Two major winter storms punished a large part of the nation today and posed a menace to highway travel in the Pacific Northwest and from the central Plains to New England.

Snow, freezing rain and heavy downpours hit an area from Kansas and Nebraska to New England. Dense fog added to the woes of motorists in much of the area.

Severe thunderstorms raced across the South and erupted into tornadoes Friday night in portions of East Texas. Three twisters churned into the Texas-kana area. One of the worst whipped through the Texas community of Atlanta and caused some damage in the business district. No deaths or injuries were reported. The tornadoes touched down in more than a half dozen other East Texas areas.

Cold air over the Plains and Midwest turned daylong rains into a highway-glazing mixture during the night. Snow later coated already treacherous roadways.

Travelers warnings were posted from Eastern Kansas and Nebraska into the Northeast. Snow was the rule in the northern Midwest, and heavy snow was forecast for portions of the Northeast by nightfall.

South of the freezing weather, hail and torrential rains swept portions of Alabama and Mississippi. Downpours of 1 to 2 inches ranged northward into Tennessee and Arkansas.

Near Carthage, Mo., one girl was drowned and two others were missing after a rain-swollen stream swept their car off a low-water bridge. Seven other members of their families escaped the raging water.

In the Northwest, a storm centered over Idaho flung snow into nearly all neighboring states and pulled a wave of zero cold into the region. Travelers for parts of Washington, Oregon, Montana and Northern California.

Another storm bearing down on the Oregon coast was expected to spread more heavy snow through the Northwest and spill into Nevada and Utah before Sunday morning.

Beaver Falls Nips Midland In Double Overtime, 57-55

By JOHN MUELLER

The Midland Leopards went down to the wire before dropping a 57-55 hair raising thriller in double overtime to the Beaver Falls Tigers in the second game of the Midland Holiday Tournament's opening double-header last night at the Midland gym. In the other game New Castle edged McKeesport, 84-80.

The game was just as thrilling as the close score could indicate. Neither team could manage a substantial leading margin at any time. The Tigers managed a five point lead late in the opening session, a four point margin midway of the second period, then a four point lead, 37-33, at the three-quarter mark.

THE LEOPARDS were never far off the pace and when they caught the Tigers midway in the fourth quarter, they moved out to a five point lead, 45-40, with 2:12 to play and again at 47-42 with 1:27 to play but coach Frank Chan's Tigers surged from behind to tie it at 48 all on a layup by Hal McLain with eight seconds to play.

The game was tied just 11 times and the lead changed hands seven times.

Hal McLain saved the Tigers from virtual defeat, then helped to spark their winning drive. McLain tied it up at the end of regulation time.

Each team scored just two points in the first overtime.

Midland held a 50-48 edge with 1:04 to play in the first extra session, as the result of a pair of foul conversions by Frank Johnson. McLain knotted it with a layup with five seconds remaining. He opened the second extra session with a short jumper to put Beaver Falls ahead 52-50, then with the Fallsmen trailing 55-54, he sank both ends of a one and one charity toss to give them a lead they never surrendered with 1:07 to play.

THE PATTERN of the contest was nip and tuck, until the Leopards went into the lead midway of the final period, then failed to last and went down to defeat in the double overtime.

Both teams used the full court press to advantage at times but until late in the game the Tigers were content to use a zone and swing into a man to man when the Leopards tried to go inside.

The Leopards battled gamely but once Green fouled out with 2:46 to play in the fourth period the Leopards stock dropped as their height under the boards was gone.

THE TIGERS lost big Dennis Kopka with 21 seconds to play in the fourth period, but the loss was not noticed as big Robin Williford, 6-6 center, re-entered the game.

Greg Vanlier paced the Leopards attack and was the game's high scorer with 19 points. Howard Leak and Green each had 10.

Williford led the Fallsmen in scoring with 13 points. Himel and McLain had 11, while Kopka added 10.

Although the Leopards were not as tall as the Beaver Falls five they managed to control the boards grabbing 29 rebounds while the Tigers snared 18. Green and Greg Vanlier each picked off eight. Williford was high for the Tigers with six.

Baltimore Rates Favorite Role

82,000 Expected To Watch Colts-Browns Title Match

By JACK HAND

Associated Press Sports Writer

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—A cold cloudy day with snow flurries and temperatures in the upper 20s is the outlook for Sunday's National Football League title game between the favored Baltimore Colts and the Cleveland Browns.

Steady rain soaked this lakefront city Friday and into the day but the tarpaulin-covered field at Cleveland Stadium was protected from the elements. Unless there is unexpected heavy precipitation Sunday, Cleveland officials indicate the field will be at least as good as it was last week when the Browns upset the Dallas Cowboys 31-20 for the Eastern Conference crown.

Coach Blanton Collier sent the Browns through a long drill on the sodden turf of Fleming Field at Case Western Reserve University Friday afternoon. Baltimore worked out at home and then flew into town Friday night. The Colts planned to limber up briefly at the Stadium Saturday.

Collier is expected to stick with the same lineup that overpowered the Cowboys. Charley Harraway and Ernie Green probably will split the running back chores as Leroy Kelly's partner. Jack Gregory, a second year man, again will start as defensive right end with the veteran Bill Glass, recovered from fractured ribs, ready for relief work if needed.

Ashe Upset To Prevent U.S. Sweep

By WILL GRIMSLEY

Associated Press Sports Writer

ADELAIDE, Australia (AP)—Bill Bowrey, once a doubtful starter for the Australians, upset Arthur Ashe in the final match Saturday and prevented a 5-0 sweep by the Americans in the Davis Cup Challenge Round.

Thrilling Australians, who are seeing the big international tennis trophy go back to the United States for the first time in five years, the tall 25-year-old Sydney player stunned Ashe, rated the world's top amateur, 2-6, 6-3, 11-9, 8-6 to make the final score of the series U.S. 4, Australia 1.

Earlier, Clark Graebner, the New York paper company representative climaxing a fighting 6-2, 6-3, 6-1 triumph over Ray Ruffels, the hard-serving Australian left-hander.

About 4,400 spectators in the antiquated stands of the Memorial Drive Courts sat through 5½ hours of tennis in bright, 80-degree weather.

The proud Aussies rose to their feet and gave Bowrey a rousing ovation.

Veteran Harry Hopman, completing his 21st campaign as Australian captain, wrapped his arms around the youngster and led him off the court.

The final two matches were stripped of importance when Ashe beat Ruffels in four sets and Graebner won over Bowrey in five on the opening day and young Stan Smith and Bob Lutz of the University of Southern California swept to a three-set victory over Ruffels and 17-year-old John Alexander in the doubles.

This made the score 3-0 and put the cup beyond Australia's reach, but the final two matches were waged bitterly on both sides, as if the future residence of the cup was at stake.

Ashe, holder of the U.S. amateur and open crowns, was obviously not up to his best form.

He favored his ailing right elbow, serving only periodically at top speed. He moved laboriously over the court at times and appeared unable to bend to the proper position on low volleys.

His main errors were on overhead smashes and in low volleys.

Graebner, attacking relentlessly, rolled to a 5-0 lead in the final set, only to lose his service in the sixth game, double-faulting twice. But he stormed back to break Ruffels for the fourth time of the set and gain his second singles victory of the series.

E. Palestine Defeated By Carrollton

EAST PALESTINE — Carrollton pulled away in the final period to hand East Palestine a 57-49 setback here Friday night.

With the score tied 25-25 at halftime Carrollton took a two point lead at the end of the third period then went on to outscore the Bulldogs, 15-9 in the fourth quarter.

The loss was the fifth in six games for East Palestine.

Kevin Merrick tossed in 23 points to lead the visitors while Terry Lipp scored 16 for East Palestine.

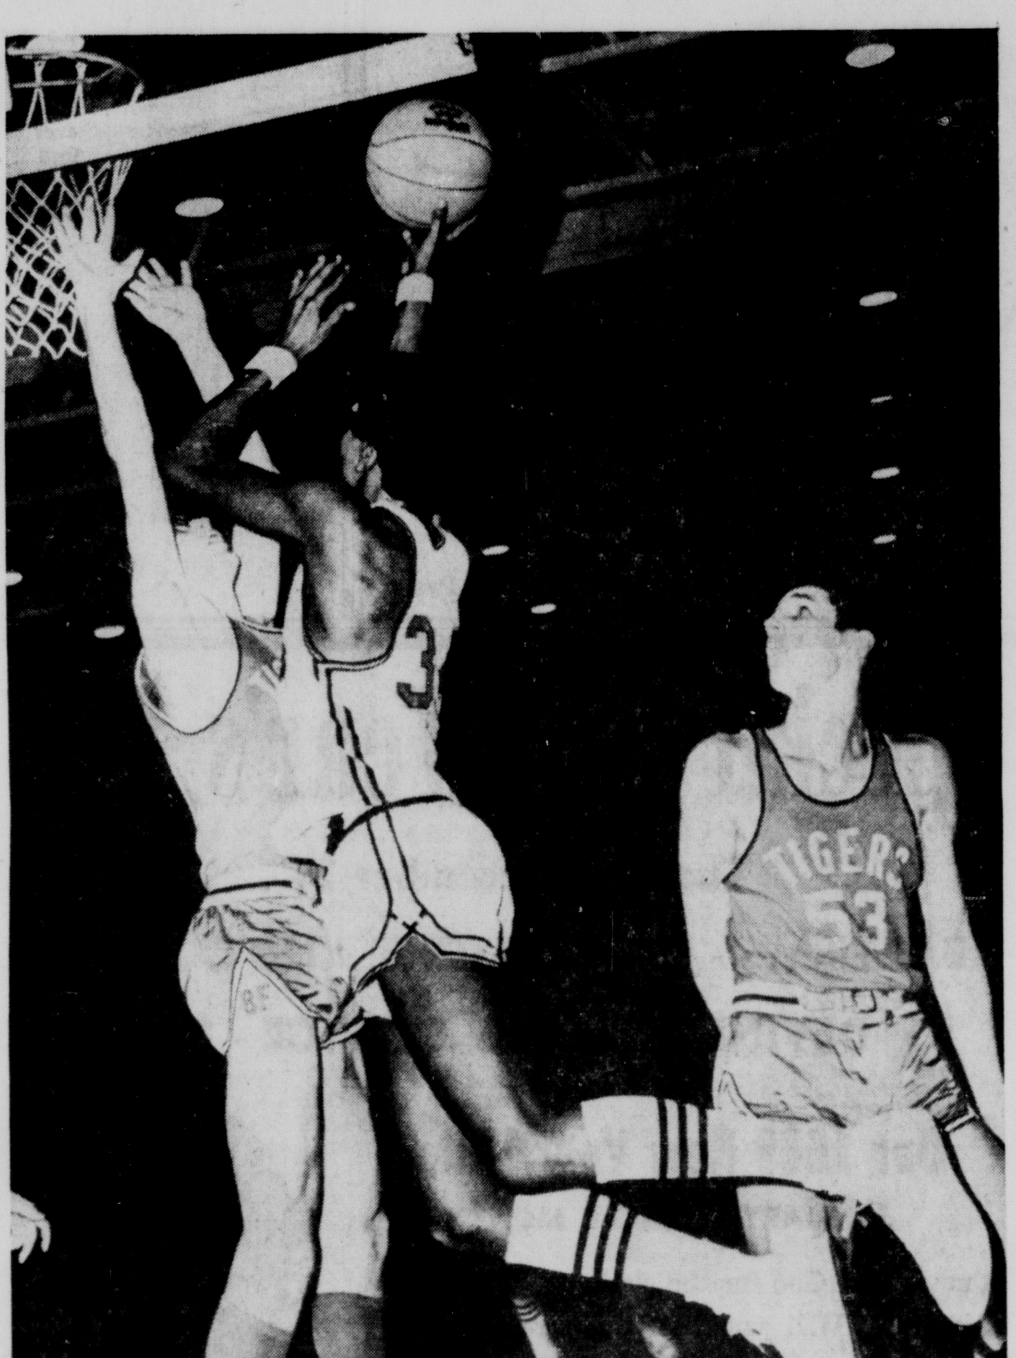

Canfield won the reserve game, 41-35.

UCLA, N. Carolina Keep Pace With Tourney Wins

By TED MEIER

Associated Press Sports Writer

It was a disappointing homecoming for Lew Alcindor, the million-dollar giant of college basketball. He thought so anyway.

"I thought I could have played much better," said the agile 7-foot-1½ All-American for UCLA's national champions after they had whipped Providence 98-81 Friday in the first round of the ECAC Holiday Festival at Madison Square Garden.

Why? Lynn Shackelford, his teammate, answered for the former New York City schoolboy star, who reportedly will be offered a $1 million bonus to sign with an American Basketball Association club after this season.

"Because I got eight rebounds and he got eight rebounds," Shackelford said. "Anything that happens, Lew figures he's had a bad game."

In any event, Mr. A. as he is sometimes called, triggered a second-half spurt that gave the No. 1 Uclans their 22nd straight and a fantastic 69th victory in their last 70 games. Lew finished with 26 points.

"There's no human being in the world who can stop him," said Princeton Coach Pete Carril, Princeton, which beat Holy Cross 67-55, is paired against UCLA in tonight's semifinals.

Chris Thomforde, Princeton's 6-9 center, will attempt to stop Alcindor. "He's human like anyone else," Thomforde said, "but I've got to respect him."

North Carolina's Tar Heels, second-ranked nationally in the Associated Press poll, kept pace with UCLA by defeating fifth-ranked Villanova 69-61 in a bruising game. The Tar Heels are paired against St. John's of New York in the other semi-tonight. St. John's advanced by downing Michigan State 61-51.

The festival highlighted a deluge of holiday tournaments in every section of the country. There was one final. Northwestern won the Gator Bowl tourney at Jacksonville, Fla., by whipping Boston College 77-68.

Third-ranked Davidson, paced by Mike Mayo's 26 points and 15 rebounds, trimmed Maryland 83-69 in the Charlotte Invitational and plays Texas in the final tonight. Texas advanced by downing Wichita State 84-81.

Unbeaten Illinois made it eight in a row by erasing a 13-point deficit to down Creighton

90-77 in the Hurricane Classic at Miami Beach. The Illini meet Miami of Florida in the final tonight. Miami edged Pitt 72-70.

Pete Maravich of Louisiana State and Calvin Murphy of Niagara, the nation's two leading scorers, had "on" nights.

Maravich tossed in 45 points as LSU came from behind to knock Wyoming out of the unbeaten ranks 84-78 in the first round of All-College Tourney at Oklahoma City. Murphy got 47 in a losing cause as the Purple Eagles fell before Indiana 86-83 in the Quaker City Classic at Philadelphia.

Spencer Haywood threw in 32 points and grabbed 29 rebounds as Detroit trounced Mississippi State 86-62 in the Motor City Classic at Detroit after Temple had downed Miami of Ohio 67-62.

Richmond Upsets Ohio U. In Tangerine Bowl, 49-42

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP)—Richmond defeated Ohio University 49-42 in the Tangerine Bowl Friday night in a football game between two conference champions which saw 1,001 yards covered and 92 passes attempted.

Richmond, Southern Conference champion after a 7-3 season, picked up 556 of those yards largely on the strength of quarterback Buster O'Brien.

The 22-year-old Virginia Beach senior concentrated on receivers Walker Gillette and Jim Livesay and completed 39 of 58 passes for 447 yards. O'Brien picked up another 39 on the ground.

Voted the game's most valuable back by sportswriters, O'Brien threw four touchdown passes and carried the ball for another touchdown.

Split end Gillette, named most valuable lineman, gained 242 yards on 20 pass receptions. Livesay caught 11 for 142 yards.

The Bobcats were 10-0-0 for the season, Mid-American Conference champs and ranked 15th nationally in the last Associated Press poll going into the game.

Quarterback Cleve Bryant, a 174-pound junior, completed 17 of 33 passes for 223 yards and carried the ball for 74 yards. Like O'Brien, he threw four touchdown passes and ran for another.

His main target was split end Todd Snyder, who caught 11 passes for 214 yards.

The game was the 23rd Tangerine Bowl in as many years and attracted 16,114 spectators, almost 6,000 more than any previous game.

The Bobcats were hurt by two lost fumbles, both recovered by Jim Altis, a third-string safety for the Spiders.

Richmond took the first recovery from the Ohio 44 for a first quarter touchdown which erased Ohio's 7-0 lead, the Bobcats only lead of the game.

The Spiders took the second from the Ohio 38 for a second quarter score which put Richmond solidly in the lead at 28-14.

Beaver Falls Nips Midland In Double Overtime, 57-55

By JOHN MUELLER
The Midland Leopards went down to the wire before dropping a 57-55 hair raising thriller in double overtime to the Beaver Falls Tigers in the second game of the Midland Holiday Tournament's opening double-header last night at the Midland gym. In the other game New Castle edged McKeesport, 84-80.

The game was just as thrilling as the close score could indicate. Neither team could manage a substantial leading margin at any time. The Tigers managed a five point lead late in the opening session, a four point margin midway of the second period, then a four point lead, 37-33, at the three-quarter mark.

THE LEOPARDS were never far off the pace and when they caught the Tigers midway in the fourth quarter, they moved out to a five point lead, 45-40, with 2:12 to play and again at 47-42 with 1:27 to play but coach Frank Chan's Tigers surged from behind to tie it at 48 all on a layup by Hal McLain with eight seconds to play.

The game was tied just 11 times and the lead changed hands seven times.

Hal McLain saved the Tigers from virtual defeat, then helped to spark their winning drive. McLain tied it up at the end of regulation time.

Each team scored just two points in the first overtime.

Midland held a 50-48 edge with 1:04 to play in the first extra session, as the result of a pair of foul conversions by Frank Johnson. McLain knotted it with a layup with five seconds remaining. He opened the second extra session with a short jumper to put Beaver Falls ahead 52-50, then with the Fallsmen trailing 55-54, he sank both ends of a one and one charity toss to give them a lead they never surrendered with 1:07 to play.

THE PATTERN of the contest was nip and tuck, until the Leopards went into the lead midway of the final period, then failed to last and went down to defeat in the double overtime.

Both teams used the full court press to advantage at times but until late in the game the Tigers were content to use a zone and swing into a man to man when the Leopards tried to go inside.

The Leopards battled gamely but once Green fouled out with 2:46 to play in the fourth period the Leopards stock dropped as their height under the boards was gone.

THE TIGERS lost big Dennis Kopka with 21 seconds to play in the fourth period, but the loss was not noticed as big Robin Willford, 6-6 center, re-entered the game.

Greg Vanlier paced the Leopards attack and was the game's high scorer with 19 points. Howard Leak and Green each had 10.

Willford led the Fallsmen in scoring with 13 points. Himel and McLain had 11, while Kopka added 10.

Although the Leopards were not as tall as the Beaver Falls five they managed to control the boards grabbing 29 rebounds while the Tigers snared 18. Green and Greg Vanlier each picked off eight. Willford was high for the Tigers with six.

MIDLAND netted 20 field goals in 60 attempts for a 33.3 average. The Tigers hit 22 of 40 for a 55 percent average.

It was double delight for the fans at the Holiday Tourney as the defending champions, New Castle, came from behind to edge the McKeesport Tigers in a contest that was settled in the last two minutes.

McKeesport battled gamely and kept within striking distance, after surrendering the lead late in the third period but the loss of Mike Petro with 4:51 to play in the final session killed the Tigers chances of an upset win. The husky forward sat out the third period due to foul trouble and still managed to pick off 13 rebounds. His presence was missed under the boards.

NEW CASTLE charged into the lead in the third period on the hot hand of Valentino Bell. The jump shot artist pumped them in from all corners of the court to chalk up 13 points in that session. He tallied 29 points on 13 field goals and three out of four fouls to lead all scorers.

Champ Young, the Red Hurricanes little guard, split the cords with machine like precision from the top of the foul circle and to either side to rack up 23 points.

Slender Greg Still paced the McKeesport attack with 23 points. Frank Anderson and Ron Van Eman each added 16.

The Red Hurricanes made up for their lack of a tall man with hustle and fast quick moves. There was no doubt they had to play this type of ball as the Tigers control of the boards kept them on the outside most of the time. New Castle picked up 34 stray shots The Tigers on the other hand snared 62.

New Castle made 32 field goals in 77 attempts for a 41.5 average. McKeesport registered 29 in 75 tries for 38.6 average.

New Castle will defend their Holiday crown tonight in the championship game against Beaver Falls, scheduled to get underway at 9. Midland will meet McKeesport in the consolation game starting at 7:30 p.m.

Miss Carol Jean King, a pretty grey eyed senior of McKeesport High School, was the judges choice for the title of Holiday Tournament Queen.

Baltimore Rates Favorite Role

protected from the elements. Unless there is unexpected heavy precipitation Sunday, Cleveland officials indicate the field will be at least as good as it was last week when the Browns upset the Dallas Cowboys 31-20 for the Eastern Conference crown.

Coach Blanton Collier sent the Browns through a long drill on the sodden turf of Fleming Field at Case Western Reserve University Friday afternoon. Baltimore worked out at home and then flew into town Friday night. The Colts planned to limber up briefly at the Stadium Saturday.

Collier is expected to stick with the same lineup that overpowered the Cowboys. Charley Harraway and Ernie Green probably will split the running back chores as Leroy Kelly's partner. Jack Gregory, a second year man, again will start as defensive right end with the veteran Bill Glass, recovered from fractured ribs, ready for relief work if needed.

Baltimore has decided to activate Timmy Brown, the halfback who has been used mainly as a kick return specialist with the Colts. Brown was off the list last week due to a pulled muscle. Gail Cogdill, veteran flanker picked up from Detroit in mid-season, will be dropped off the active list.

Jerry Hill will start at fullback for the Colts in their only lineup change from the team that beat Minnesota, 24-14 for the Western Conference championship in the Baltimore mud last Sunday. Hill, a fine blocker, played most of the game after Preston Pearson had started. Hill's blocking on Earl Morrall's rollout passes helped control the strong pass rush by the Vikings who flattened Morrall four times in the first half.

A crowd of about 82,000 is expected to turn out for the game which will start at 2:35 p.m. EST. There will be national network television and radio coverage by the Columbia Broadcasting System with Cleveland and the Youngstown, Ohio area blacked out on television.

The winning share should be close to $10,000, plus a shot at the Jan. 12 Super Bowl in Miami against the American Football League champion. As the Super Bowl pays a guaranteed $15,000 for winners and $7,500 for losers, the victory Sunday could mean a total of $25,000 or $17,500 for the survivor. The loser of this game will get about $7,000.

Ashe Upset To Prevent U.S. Sweep

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer ADELAIDE, Australia (AP) — Bill Bowrey, once a doubtful starter for the Australians, upset Arthur Ashe in the final match Saturday and prevented a 5-0 sweep by the Americans in the Davis Cup Challenge Round.

Thrilling Australians, who are seeing the big international tennis trophy go back to the United States for the first time in five years, the tall 25-year-old Sydney player stunned Ashe, rated the world's top amateur, 2-6, 6-3, 11-9, 8-6 to make the final score of the series U.S. 4, Australia 1.

Earlier, Clark Graebner, the New York paper company representative climaxed a fighting 6, 2-6, 6-3, 6-1 triumph over Ray Ruffels, the hard-serving Australian left-hander.

About 4,400 spectators in the antiquated stands of the Memorial Drive Courts sat through 5½ hours of tennis in bright, 80-degree weather.

The proud Aussies rose to their feet and gave Bowrey a rousing ovation.

Veteran Harry Hopman, completing his 21st campaign as Australian captain, wrapped his arms around the youngster and led him off the court.

The final two matches were stripped of importance when Ashe beat Ruffels in four sets and Graebner won over Bowrey in five on the opening day and young Stan Smith and Bob Lutz of the University of Southern California swept to a three-set victory over Ruffels and 17-year-old John Alexander in the doubles.

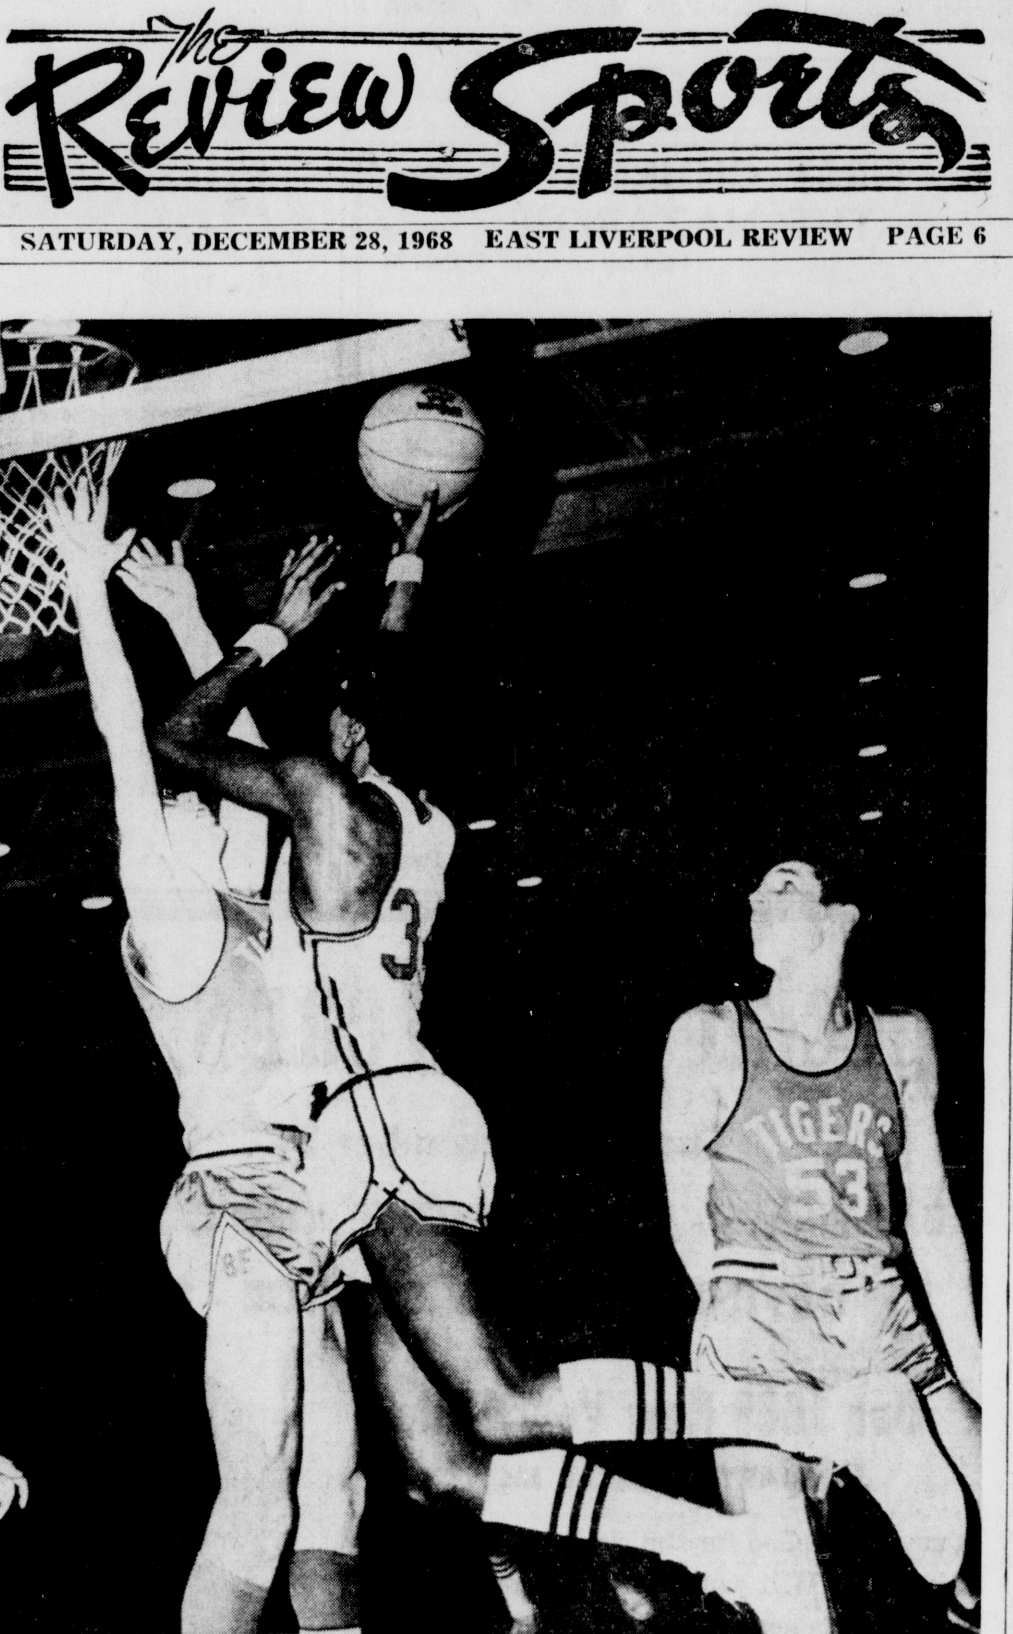

This made the score 3-0 and put the cup beyond Australia's reach, but the final two matches were waged bitterly on both sides, as if the future residence of the cup was at stake.

Ashe, holder of the U.S. amateur and open crowns, was obviously not up to his best form.

He favored his ailing right elbow, serving only periodically at top speed. He moved laboriously over the court at times and appeared unable to bend to the proper position on low volleys.

His main errors were on overhead smashes and in low volleys.

Graebner, attacking relentlessly, rolled to a 5-0 lead in the final set, only to lose his service in the sixth game, double-faulting twice. But he stormed back to break Ruffels for the fourth time of the set and gain his second singles victory of the series.

MIDLAND'S GREG VANLIER (34) drives for the basket and shoots over the outstretching arms of a Beaver Falls defender while Al Himel of Beaver Falls watches the action. Beaver Falls defeated Midland in a double overtime at the annual Holiday Tournament Friday night at Midland.

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer It was a disappointing homecoming for Lew Alcindor, the million-dollar giant of college basketball. He thought so anyway.

"I thought I could have played much better," said the agile 7-foot-1½ All-American for UCLA's national champions after they had whipped Providence 58-81 Friday in the first round of the ECAC Holiday Festival at Madison Square Garden.

Why? Lynn Shackelford, his teammate, answered for the former New York City schoolboy star, who reportedly will be offered a $1 million bonus to sign with an American Basketball Association club after this season.

"Because I got eight rebounds and he got eight rebounds," Shackelford said. "Anytime that happens, Lew figures he's had a bad game."

In any event, Mr. A. as he is sometimes called, triggered a second-half spurt that gave the No. 1 Uclans their 22nd straight and a fantastic 69th victory in their last 70 games. Lew finished with 26 points.

"There's no human being in the world who can stop him," said Princeton Coach Pete Carril, Princeton, which beat Holy Cross 67-55, is paired against UCLA in tonight's semifinals.

Chris Thomforde, Princeton's 6-9 center, will attempt to stop Alcindor. "He's human like anyone else," Thomforde said, "but I've got to respect him."

North Carolina's Tar Heels, second-ranked nationally in The Associated Press poll, kept pace with UCLA by defeating fifth-ranked Villanova 69-61 in a bruising game. The Tar Heels are paired against St. John's of New York in the other semi tonight. St. John's advanced by downing Michigan State 61-51.

The festival highlighted a deluge of holiday tournaments in every section of the country. There was one final, Northwest term the Gator Bowl tourney at Jacksonville, Fla., by whipping Boston College 77-68.

Third-ranked Davidson, paced by Mike Mayo's 26 points and 15 rebounds, trimmed Maryland 83-69 in the Charlotte Invitational and plays Texas in the final tonight. Texas advanced by downing Wichita State 84-81.

Unbeaten Illinois made it eight in a row by erasing a 13-point deficit to down Creighton 67-62.

Spencer Haywood threw in 32 points and grabbed 29 rebounds as Detroit trounced Mississippi State 86-62 in the Motor City Classic at Detroit after Temple had downed Miami of Ohio 67-62.

Richmond Upsets Ohio U. In Tangerine Bowl, 49-42

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP)—Richmond defeated Ohio University 49-42 in the Tangerine Bowl Friday night in a football game between two conference champions which saw 1,001 yards covered and 92 passes attempted.

Richmond, Southern Conference champion after a 7-3 season, picked up 556 of those yards largely on the strength of quarterback Buster O'Brien.

The 22-year-old Virginia Beach senior concentrated on receivers Walker Gillette and Jim Livesay and completed 39 of 58 passes for 447 yards. O'Brien picked up another 39 on the ground.

Voted the game's most valuable back by sportswriters, O'Brien threw four touchdown passes and carried the ball for another touchdown.

Split end Gillette, named most valuable lineman, gained 242 yards on 20 pass receptions. Livesay caught 11 for 142 yards.

The Bobcats were 10-0-0 for the season, Mid-American Conference champs and ranked 15th nationally in the last Associated Press poll going into the game.

Quarterback Cleve Bryant, a 174-pound junior, completed 17 of 33 passes for 223 yards and carried the ball for 74 yards. Like O'Brien, he threw four touchdown passes and ran for another.

His main target was split end Todd Snyder, who caught 11 passes for 214 yards.

The game was the 23rd Tangerine Bowl in as many years and attracted 16,114 spectators, almost 6,000 more than any previous game.

The Bobcats were hurt by two lost fumbles, both recovered by Jim Altis, a third-string safety for the Spiders.

Richmond took the first recovery from the Ohio 44 for a first quarter touchdown which erased Ohio's 7-0 lead, the Bobcats only lead of the game.

The Spiders took the second from the Ohio 38 for a second quarter score which put Richmond solidly in the lead at 28-14.

Personalities In The News

BOSTON (AP) — Richard Cardinal Cushing, 73, who said in October he would retire at the end of this year, announced Friday night he will not retire until he is 75 years old.

He said on Oct. 25 that he was advancing his retirement date because of criticism he said he received on his views on the marriage of Jacqueline Kennedy to Aristotle Onassis.

His latest word came after a caller asked on WEEI's "Nightline" talk program why nothing more had been heard of the October announcement.

Cardinal Cushing called a few minutes later and announced James Westover asked if he had any official word on his proposed retirement.

"Nothing doing," Cushing replied, "I have to wait until I'm 75."

He explained that a bishop cannot retire without permission of the Pope.

"I propose to retire Aug. 24, 1970, when I'll be 75 years old," he added. "But even then I cannot retire unless the Holy Father approves."

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — The wedding plans of Edward Russell and Sharon McCartney were interrupted by the North Koreans with the capture of the USS Pueblo last January.

Russell, back in San Diego with his shipmates after their release, said Friday the wedding date has been reset "for Jan. 11."

Russell, 25, a personnelman third class, said he has been dating Miss McCartney since 1966. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Philip McCartney of La Canada, Calif.

Russell, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. Stuart Russell of Glendale, Calif., plans postgraduate study at the University of Southern California.

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — Mark Rudd, the student rebel leader, has been permanently rejected by the Army after a check of his medical records.

"They don't want to take me," Rudd said Friday at the Armed Forces Induction Center. "Any medical decision is prompted by political considerations."

"The Army is fragile and unstable. I question whether they want a well-known 'left' organizer who might bring together the disaffected in the Army."

Rudd, 21, of Maplewood, N.J., lost his student deferment when he was expelled from Columbia University for his part in the student uprising last spring.

Maj. Clement St. Martin, chief processing officer at the induction center, said Rudd asked the Army not to disclose its reasons for rejection. He said Rudd probably will be classified 4-F by his draft board.

Swedish Government Sets Dope Crackdown

STOCKHOLM (AP) — The Swedish Social Democrat government of Premier Tage Erlander plans a crackdown on narcotics.

The measures include heavier penalties for severe narcotics crimes, wire-tapping and better facilities for police and customs to fight the drug trade," Erlander said at a news conference Friday.

The government also will invite all Swedish youth organizations to a conference in February to discuss drug abuse.

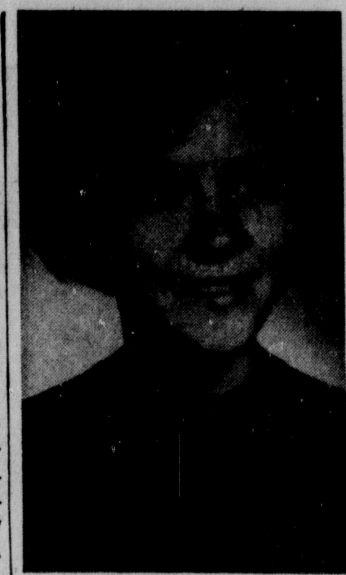

Erlander said he regretted granting police wire-tapping rights, but explained this would be limited to investigation of "severe narcotics crimes, wholesale drug sellers."

Use Of New British Ship May Be Delayed

LONDON (AP) — Use of the new British prestige liner Queen Elizabeth 2 in regular passenger service may be delayed because of engine trouble that developed during acceptance trials, shipping officials reported today.

Sir Basil Smallpiece, chairman of the Cunard Line, said he will fly to the new 65,000-ton liner in the Canary Islands with Anthony Harper, chairman of the Scots consortium that built her.

Smallpiece said turbine trouble developed Christmas Eve and the ship was slowed to one knot so the engines could be inspected. More trouble developed Thursday and speed again was reduced.

Thirty-seven men and one woman were rescued. An official said in Kingstown Friday that no wreckage has been seen, though two bodies and some personal belongings of passengers have been found.

Appears Recovered From Flu

Vice President Honored By Friends, Neighbors

WAVERLY, Minn. (AP) — Outside the snow fell softly on the gray concrete building while inside the vice president of the United States danced and talked with the people who know him as a neighbor.

For Hubert H. Humphrey it was a return to his adopted hometown to say thanks for its support in his unsuccessful bid for the presidency and for past successful campaigns for the Senate and the vice presidency.

Friday night the vice president was honored by some 100 of his friends and neighbors in this snowy country town some 40 miles west of Minneapolis.

Dressed in a dark blue suit, Humphrey appeared tanned and well-recovered from a recent bout with the flu. He plunged into the crowd shaking hands and greeting many persons by name.

Before he and his wife, Muriel arrived, the crowd danced to the music of the Melodiers-fer-turing an organ, guitar, drums and clarinet.

Then, about 10:15 the crowd stirred as the vice president and his wife arrived. After walking around the room and greeting friends, Humphrey went to the stage and spoke briefly.

He began by thanking the persons for support both before and after the recent election.

Humphrey also complimented the town on its appearance during the campaign and drew applause when he said, "We're residents here. We intend to be here a long time."

He said he is saving some old Waverly Friends of Humphrey buttons from the 1968 presidential race because "I might want to use them again."

But he declined to be more specific on his future political plans and pointed out he will start teaching at Macalester College and the University of Minnesota after he ends his vice presidential duties Jan. 20.

Vance Returns To Paris

LBJ Told Stalled Talks May Be Resumed Shortly

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson says he has been told by his No. 2 Vietnam peace negotiator that there are indications the stalled Paris talks may move off dead center soon.

In a wide-ranging news conference in Washington Friday, the President said that Cyrus Vance, deputy U.S. negotiator at Paris, told him earlier this week that "He believes we can get going on substantive talks after his return there and we are just praying that can be true."

Vance returned to Paris Friday after a trip to the United States to brief officials on the talks. He reported what he had told the President when he arrived in Paris.

Vietnam was very much on Johnson's mind during the news conference, in which he said the failure to end the war was the major disappointment of his five years in office.

He said that in spite of the sorrow and regret at the continuing deaths of Americans in the Southeast Asian war, he has enjoyed every minute of his time in the White House.

And the President added he is proud of the achievements of his administration, although he said there was much more that should have been done.

The President was clearly buoyed up by the week's events, of the Apollo 8 moon mission, the release of the Pueblo crew and Cambodia's return of American prisoners.

"We are generally very happy and thankful for the good breaks that are coming our way," he said. The only thing that would make him happier, he added, would be peace in Vietnam.

"It would just be paradise if we could end that thing," he said. "But we must end it with honor."

"We just have to hope and pray and do the best we can, right up until the bell rings, which we are all going to do."

Following the news conference Johnson flew to his Texas ranch looking for some warm sun to help him shake off a cold and cough that have bothered him for nearly two months. He was greeted by bright sun, a 70-degree temperature and a forecast of slightly cooler weather for the weekend.

He said he would use the time at the ranch to tie up some remaining loose ends of his administration before stepping aside Jan. 20 for Richard M. Nixon.

The chief tasks facing him are the preparation of a budget, an economic message to Congress and a State of the Union address.

He said he expected to stay at his ranch through New Year's Day.

Johnson met reporters in his Washington office while three television screens near his desk showed the triumphant scene aboard the aircraft carrier Yorktown as America's three moon-traveling astronauts were brought aboard.

Shortly afterward, Johnson telephoned the astronauts aboard the carrier and told them "We want to welcome you home. Thank God you are back safe again."

Johnson said Air Force Col. Frank Borman, Navy Capt. James A. Lovell Jr., and Air Force Maj. William A. Anders had blazed the way into a new era.

"You made us feel kin to those Europeans five centuries ago who first heard news of the New World," he said.

Johnson's mood of confidence and satisfaction with the way things have been going lately dominated the news conference, but each time he referred enthusiastically to the accomplishments of his administration he brought himself up short by recalling the Vietnam war.

"Advances in space are wonderful," he said. "Great movements forward in education and health—that is good. Making this a more beautiful land, all we have done in conservation, we are thankful for that."

"But what really counts is whether we can keep people from dying and whether we can get our men home."

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. — How can I remove rust stains or other metal stains from light-colored house siding?

A. — Try washing with a water solution of oxalic acid. This is sold in crystalline form at paint and hardware stores. Dissolve ¼ pound in one gallon of water, and sponge over the stains. Allow to dry for several minutes, then rub off with a clean cloth.

Q. — How can I remove floor-wax stains from fabrics?

A. — Usually by ordinary laundering. If there are any leftover traces, give them a spot treatment with carbon tetrachloride.

Q. — How can I deal with grease stains on wallpaper?

A. — An old, but very good, treatment is to hold a blotter over the stain with a moderately hot iron. The heat of the iron melts the grease, which is then absorbed by the blotter. Then, if necessary, you can finish off the cleaning with pipe clay or fuller's earth.

Q. — How can I keep leftover putty soft and usable?

A. — By wrapping the putty tightly in sheet plastic, or in a plastic vegetable bag. This keeps out the air and prevents the putty from drying out.

Q. — How can I insure equal-sized hamburgers when I am preparing the meat?

A. — By measuring your meat out with an ice cream scoop.

Dry cleaning is not strictly a "dry" process. The articles are placed in a washer containing a wet solution, and they become quite thoroughly saturated.

Brought On By Flu, Lack Of Heat

New York Officials Say State Of Peril Improves

NEW YORK (AP) — City officials say there has been a "material improvement" in the "state of peril" brought on by a fuel oil shortage, flu epidemic and freezing weather.

New York's 900 public schools were ordered closed Monday and Tuesday because of a shortage of oil to heat the buildings, but Deputy Mayor Robert W. Sweet said Friday 15,000 or 28,000 buildings reported to be without heat on Thursday had been serviced with oil by Friday night.

The buildings and schools had been left without fuel in the wake of a recently ended strike of fuel oil deliverers.

The Health Department announced that it had received 6,000 additional doses of Hong Kong flu vaccine and district health centers were to be open today to inoculate the elderly and the chronically ill. An additional 16,000 doses were being rushed to the city.

The woes of many New Yorkers were compounded by a storm that dropped two inches of snow Friday night.

The Health Department said there had been 26 deaths from flu and 41 from pneumonia in the 24-hour period which ended at 4 p.m. Friday.

The "state of peril" was declared Thursday by the city Board of Health after a meeting at City Hall of the Emergency Control Board. The declaration empowered Health Department representatives to order priority shipments of fuel to buildings housing sick persons.

3 Admitted, 5 Treated In Emergencies

Three area residents were admitted to City Hospital as the result of injuries received Friday and five others were released.

Mrs. Elma Fisher of Finley Rd., Chester, fractured her right hand in a wringer and received lacerations of the left hand. She was in "good" condition this morning.

Goldie Stowers of 1650 Park Ave., who dislocated her left ankle in a fall, is "fair."

Raymond Treleven of 528 California Ave., Chester, is "fairly good" with an injury to his right hip suffered when he fell on Carolina Ave.

Treated and released were Pamela Spencer, daughter of Theodore Spencer of 304 Center St., lacerations of the right knee on a washing machine glass; William Boyd of Negley RD 1, employed by Hall Plumbing and Heating, injury to left little finger on metal at work; George Bulger of 340 Elizabeth St., Wellsville, employed by the Ohio Brass Co., laceration of the left third finger on a cutter at work.

Use Of New British Ship May Be Delayed

LONDON (AP) — Use of the new British prestige liner Queen Elizabeth 2 in regular passenger service may be delayed because of engine trouble that developed during acceptance trials, shipping officials reported today.

Sir Basil Smallpiece, chairman of the Cunard Line, said he will fly to the new 65,000-ton liner in the Canary Islands with Anthony Harper, chairman of the Scots consortium that built her.

Smallpiece said turbine trouble developed Christmas Eve and the ship was slowed to one knot so the engines could be inspected. More trouble developed Thursday and speed again was reduced.

Appears Recovered From Flu

Vice President Honored By Friends, Neighbors

WAVERLY, Minn. (AP) — Outside the snow fell softly on the gray concrete building while inside the vice president of the United States danced and talked with the people who know him as a neighbor.

For Hubert H. Humphrey it was a return to his adopted hometown to say thanks for its support in his unsuccessful bid for the presidency and for past successful campaigns for the Senate and the vice presidency.

Friday night the vice president was honored by some 100 of his friends and neighbors in this snowy country town some 40 miles west of Minneapolis.

Dressed in a dark blue suit, Humphrey appeared tanned and well-recovered from a recent bout with the flu. He plunged into the crowd shaking hands and greeting many persons by name.

Before he and his wife, Muriel arrived, the crowd danced to the music of the Melodians featuring an organ, guitar, drums and clarinet.

Then, about 10:15 the crowd stirred as the vice president and his wife arrived. After walking around the room and greeting friends, Humphrey went to the stage and spoke briefly.

He began by thanking the persons for support both before and after the recent election.

Humphrey also complimented the town on its appearance during the campaign and drew applause when he said, "We're residents here. We intend to be here a long time."

He said he is saving some old Waverly Friends of Humphrey buttons from the 1968 presidential race because "I might want to use them again."

But he declined to be more specific on his future political plans and pointed out he will start teaching at Macalester College and the University of Minnesota after he ends his vice presidential duties Jan. 20.

Vance Returns To Paris

LBJ Told Stalled Talks May Be Resumed Shortly

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson says he has been told by his No. 2 Vietnam peace negotiator that there are indications the stalled Paris talks may move off dead center soon.

In a wide-ranging news conference in Washington Friday, the President said that Cyrus Vance, deputy U.S. negotiator at Paris, told him earlier this week that "He believes we can get going on substantive talks after his return there and we are just praying that can be true."

Vance returned to Paris Friday after a trip to the United States to brief officials on the talks. He reported what he had told the President when he arrived in Paris.

Vietnam was very much on Johnson's mind during the news conference, in which he said the failure to end the war was the major disappointment of his five years in office.

He said that in spite of the sorrow and regret at the continuing deaths of Americans in the Southeast Asian war, he has enjoyed every minute of his time in the White House.

And the President added he is proud of the achievements of his administration, although he said there was much more that should have been done.

The President was clearly buoyed up by the week's events, of the Apollo 8 moon mission, the release of the Pueblo crew and Cambodia's return of American prisoners.

"We are generally very happy and thankful for the good breaks that are coming our way," he said. The only thing that would make him happier, he added, would be peace in Vietnam.

"It would just be paradise if we could end that thing," he said. "But we must end it with honor."

"We just have to hope and pray and do the best we can, right up until the bell rings, which we are all going to do."

Following the news conference Johnson flew to his Texas ranch looking for some warm sun to help him shake off a cold and cough that have bothered him for nearly two months. He was greeted by bright sun, a 70-degree temperature and a forecast of slightly cooler weather for the weekend.

He said he would use the time at the ranch to tie up some remaining loose ends of his ad-

Valve Co. to the East End Patterson Industries plant, but saw failure to fulfill hopes of establishing a continuous casting plant by Reductioneering Co. at Congo.

Another section of the Freeway was virtually completed, but the Chester Bridge was found unsafe and closed to truck traffic. The new Post Office was completed, but a major fire swept the Diamond area.

Work was started on housing developments in the West End and near Maine Blvd., but the Lisbon St. improvement, St. Clair water project, widening of outer St. Clair Ave., and completion of the Columbiana County Airport were delayed. A new 33-place parking lot was opened by the city on 6th St., but the large privately-owned Community Parking Lot was closed.

HOWEVER THERE were other plusses without minuses. The 9th St. ramp — a $250,000 project — was completed, lower St. Clair Ave was improved and re-paved. The 3-day Pottery Festival drew thousands to the city, stirred new interest in the industry and its craftsmen, and brought about a new aspect of community pride.

Looking ahead for 1969, the area should be able to count on opening of the new airport near Glenmoor, completion of the high rise apartment structure for the elderly in the West End, and advance of construction of the low income housing complex along Maine Blvd.

The IBOP reports it plans to move ahead "as quickly as possible" with plans for construction of an apartment on the site of the former Central School on 4th St. which the union purchased this year. E. L. Wheatley, president, said negotiations are proceeding with Four Freedoms, Washington-based organization which helps finance such complexes by labor unions.

There is a strong possibility work will be launched on a private middle-income housing development in Fisher Park.

Bids will be let just after the first of the year for the construction of the Blair-Morse Building on the Diamond, four-story office building with parking space for the tenants on the site of the former Siff building destroyed in the fire.

Prospects for the coming year are encouraging to most observers, and implementation of present private and governmental plans should bring about a number of beneficial changes by next December.

Here are some of the events and people who figured in the news of the past year:

JANUARY

A $50 million counterfeiting operation which included a printing plant in a Wellsville storeroom was uncovered by the Secret Service.

Don Eckert and Jackman Vodrey received top service awards at the annual East Liverpool Jaycees dinner.

A ban on bus and truck use of the Chester Bridge was ordered after engineers discovered cables corroded.

E. L. Wheatley, president, said negotiations are proceeding with Four Freedoms, Washington-based organization which helps finance such complexes by labor unions.

There is a strong possibility work will be launched on a private middle-income housing development in Fisher Park.

Bids will be let just after the first of the year for the construction of the Blair-Morse Building on the Diamond, four-story office building with parking space for the tenants on the site of the former Siff building destroyed in the fire.

Prospects for the coming year are encouraging to most observers, and implementation of present private and governmental plans should bring about a number of beneficial changes by next December.

Here are some of the events and people who figured in the news of the past year:

A $50 million counterfeiting operation which included a printing plant in a Wellsville storeroom was uncovered by the Secret Service.

Don Eckert and Jackman Vodrey received top service awards at the annual East Liverpool Jaycees dinner.

A ban on bus and truck use of the Chester Bridge was ordered after engineers discovered cables corroded.

TOO YOUNG TO REALLY BE IN LOVE: Statistics to marry by. According to Dr. Mary Jane Hungerford, vice president of the California State Association of Marriage Counselors and a director of the Southern California branch of that organization, the average age of first childbirth (among American girls) is 19 years. Oddly enough, the average marriage age for same is 20.3 years. That indicates, of course, many pre-marriage pregnancies. A surprising number of girls 14 years old and under were married. This includes some in elementary school. Studies indicate that a good percentage of these marriages fail rapidly—usually within the first year. National statistics say one out of four marriages end in divorce. Number-wise, Los Angeles has the worst luck. There is one divorce for every wedding. It seems to bode ill for teen vows.

Outdoor Notes

The hard-to-explain disappearance of game fishing during the winter months can be most perplexing, especially when the fishin' itch in a guy's casing arm doesn't respect a seasonal layoff.

For many fishermen, cold weather and lack of prospects are tolerated without too much complaint. But, ask the experts what's a man going to do when he still wants to go fishing, regardless of the elements?

It's simple, they say. Just bundle up and go!

Fish, being cold-blooded creatures, are permitted by nature to maintain bodily functions at a speed regulated by the surrounding temperatures. The colder it gets, the more sluggish they become, and the less food is required to sustain life.

YET THEY do feed on a limited scale, and can be induced to hit a baited hook on occasion.

Drop your offering in the deepest holes, where the water will be warmest. Bottom springs, when known, are excellent spots. Fresh water entering from tributaries carries oxygen and stirs up the frigid lake in a localized area, creating another preferred fish location.

Use baits and lures as if fish were half asleep . . . not so much out of respect for the slumbering attitudes of the fish, but to give them a chance to catch up if they desire.

There's one alternative to this slow motion angling.

Head for Florida or other parts south where Ol' man Winter is a bit more lenient toward his fishin' brethren.

FALLING INTO deep water fully clothed need not end in tragedy for duck hunters, according to John T. Goetz, Eastern Area Director of the American Red Cross Safety Programs.

Goetz says, "The important thing to remember is that if you fall in the water clothed, you don't have to pull off your outer garments or drown. Your clothes can not only help you are worn, you should turn on your stomach; keeping the boot openings underwater and the heels raised to the surface.

Should you fall into the water on your stomach, the hunting jacket will inflate and become a float. A plastic decoy slid inside the jacket gives extra flotation, and boat oars placed under the knees support the lower part of the body.

Air in the clothing will eventually be displaced by water, but there are ways to replace some the air, said Goetz. He suggests that a victim lie face down in the water, partially unzip the jacket, and slap quantities of water and air into it. Air bubbles will rise to the water surface and, trapped in the back of the jacket will give new additional support. Other techniques of replacing air in clothing are taught in Red Cross survival swimming courses.

Goetz warns of the danger of wearing ammunition vests or loading pockets with ammunition. Both, he says, add weight to drag a man below the water surface.

A WELL PLACED boat is just as important as an accurate cast, and the hand on the throttle may be as responsible for subduing a trophy fish as the trembling fingers locked around the rod.

Proper boat handling plays a vital role in fishing. Unfortunately, its true significance often becomes apparent too late — after a good fish has been lost.

Most anglers are reasonably adept at handling their rigs while trolling and casting. And hooking and netting ordinary size fish present no special problems.

However, things change quickly when the once-in-a-life-time lunker comes along. Everyone focuses attention on the battle, and tends to forget that the boat can be a big aid to a happy outcome.

Some guides run their motors during the entire battle to help the fisherman hold the fish out in unobstructed water and to turn with the fish. When the fish shows signs of tiring and resistance slackens, the guide backs off steadily so that continual pressure can be exerted without letting the fish get a second wind up near the hull.

Large fish such as pike, salmon, trout and muskies have a peculiar affection for boat bottoms — particularly when about to be landed. They may slide docilely alongside appearing completely whipped. Then, splash . . . down and under, and the helmsman swings the boat quickly something's going to get snagged and the escape made good.

Since you can't keep a big fish away from the boat, keep Unless the angler plunges his rod deep into the water the boat away from the fish until he's definitely beaten.

Here are some of his tips for duck hunters involved in water accidents. Relax, and let air in the clothing bring you to the surface. Once afloat you can paddle to safety. If on your back, with hip boots, pull the knees to the chest, keeping the boot openings underwater.

The air-filled boots act as a float and you can use your arms to paddle backwards to safety. However, if knee boots

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. — How can I seal unsightly seams between sections of linoleum flooring?

A. — Use a knife blade to scrape off fine shavings from a scrap piece of the material, mix these shavings with hard floor wax, then force the mix into the seams with a putty knife of your thumb. Let dry overnight. Next dampen a cloth with paint thinner, wipe it across the seam to remove any surplus material, and finally wax and polish the area with a good hard wax.

Q. — Please suggest an easy way to separate an egg.

A. — One simple and easy way is just by letting it slip through your fingers. Put the egg in your hand, and let the white slip into the waiting bowl. The yolk will remain in your hand.

FOOD FAVORITES

Italian cooks do imaginative and delicious things with omelets. They call them fritatas.

Here is one example, using mushrooms. Brown mushrooms, onions and spinach in one pan. Splice beaten eggs and cook in another pan without stirring until almost set. Then top the eggs with mushroom mixture and pop under broiler for a minute.

If desired, use zucchini slices, frying peppers or other flavorful vegetables in place of spinach.

FRIITTATA

1-3 cup instant minced onion

½ pound fresh mushrooms or 1 slice (6 to 8 oz.) sliced mushrooms

2 tablespoons olive or salad oil

3 tablespoons butter or margarine

1 cup chopped cooked and drained spinach or 1 package (10 oz.) frozen spinach, cooked and drained

2 tablespoons sliced pimento

8 eggs

2 tablespoons grated Parmesan cheese

1 tablespoon parsley flakes

¾ teaspoon salt

½ teaspoon oregano leaves

¼ teaspoon ground black pepper

Mix onion with 1-3-cup water; let stand 10 minutes to soften. Meanwhile, slice fresh mushrooms (makes about 2½ cups) or drain canned mushrooms. Heat oil and 2 tablespoons of the butter in skillet. Add softened onion and mushrooms and saute until lightly browned, about 4 to 5 minutes. Stir in spinach and pimento; set aside.

In bowl combine eggs with remaining ingredients. Beat with wire whip or rotary egg beater until well-blended. Heat remaining 1 tablespoon butter in a large skillet over moderate heat.

Pour in egg mixture. Cook until egg begins to set. Top with mushroom mixture. Cook until almost firm. Place under preheated broiler to brown and set top of omelet. Six portions.

Stamps In The News

A national stamp design contest is under way for the first U.S. postage stamp ever issued honoring the state of Alabama. The state will commemorate Alabama's 150th anniversary of statehood.

The contest, guided by rules formulated by the United States Post Office, will be open to anyone wishing to enter. It will be sponsored and administered by Operation New Birmingham, a civic organization working in cooperation with the Sesquicentennial Philatelic Committee and the Alabama Sesquicentennial Commission.

A panel of judges will first choose the 10 best entries and then the winner will receive a first prize of $1,000. Rules and entry blanks may be obtained by writing Operation New Birmingham, PO Box 1545, Birmingham, Ala. 35201. A check or money order for $1 should be enclosed to defray costs of postage and handling.

THE LATEST edition of Minkus Stamp Journal will feature "Chinese Art Treasures on Stamps," by the Republic of China's director general of Posts, T. Y. Ho. With beautiful illustrations of bronze, porcelain and jade art, the article traces the growth of China's art on its postage stamps.

Ohio Senators Decide On Site Of New Building

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A committee of state senators seeking a site for a new legislative office building decided Friday that the new building should be erected on State Street, opposite the Statehouse, on property now occupied by the RKO Grand and Loew's Ohio theaters.

The committee, given the powers to select the site by the 107th General Assembly, decided the property was the most feasible and economical one proposed.

Its decision means that eventually, when the new office building is completed, the present Statehouse annex will be razed, restoring the grounds to open, landscaped space around the capitol building.

The cost is expected to be about $1.6 million. Committee members said a recent purchaser of the property paid that price, but that acquisition costs must be added.

2 Accused Of Shooting Up Airliner Face Court

ATHENS (AP) — Two Arab terrorists, accused of shooting up an Israeli airliner at Athens airport Thursday, were brought before a Greek magistrate today for pretrial testimony.

The two men, handcuffed and smiling, were escorted from their prison cells at general security headquarters under heavy guard and driven to investigating magistrate Nicholas Stylianakis' office in the main Athens court building.

One of the men, Mahmoud Muhammad Issa, 27, made a victory sign with his fingers for photographers. His alleged accomplice, Maher Hussein Sulleiman, 19, was locked up in an adjacent room with a guard to await his turn to testify.

Issa emerged from the magistrate's office 40 minutes later, and was taken by security police out of the building. He still bore signs of a clubbing he received from an airport policeman.

Sulleiman followed a few minutes later. They were driven back to their cells at the security headquarters.

A court employee quoted Sulleiman as saying: "Israel is my enemy. I did well."

The men are accused of shooting and throwing grenades at an El Al airliner with 56 persons aboard as it moved towards the runway for takeoff to Paris and New York. One Israeli passenger was killed and an El Al stewardess was injured.

The two men were apprehended by police and charged Friday by an Athens public prosecutor with eight counts, including premeditated murder, illegal use and possession of firearms and endangering human lives.

If found guilty on the premeditated murder charge, the two Arabs could receive the death sentence.

No trial date was set. It is expected to be announced once the magistrate concludes his investigation.

In Cairo, a guerrilla group called the Popular Front for the Liberation of Palestine said Friday night it has hired a group of lawyers to defend the two Arabs.

2 Cited Here In Car's Dash

Two East Liverpool men were cited as the result of an accident on Pennsylvania Ave. at Mulberry St. Friday at 10:10 p.m.

Police said Larry R. Jackson, 20, of 824 Pennsylvania Ave. was driving a 1958 sedan belonging to Willie F. Foster of 170 Haywood St. on the Hill Rd. when the brakes failed and the car went onto the sidewalk, struck a sign at Ferrell's Market, continued another 30 feet and hit another sign, continued across Mulberry St. and came to rest against a sign at Jordan's service station.

Police said the car traveled 240 feet after it left the roadway.

Jackson was charged for reckless operation and driving an unsafe vehicle. Foster was charged with improper registration.

Meanwhile, two other cars were damaged in hit-skip cases.

Roger Allan Bolland of Hyatsville, Md., said his 1968 coupe was hit while parked at Monroe and W. 4th Sts. and Bessie A. Gunn of 6th Ave., LaCroft, said her 1961 convertible was damaged while parked at Elm St. and Pennsylvania Ave.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

Junior Editors Quiz on

QUESTION: What makes the white show up when the waves roll in?

ANSWER: As wind pushes on sea water and builds up wave forms, wind friction helps to point the top to a sharp crest (A). If the wind is strong enough, it will then blow the water at the top so that it goes spilling down (B). But the air of the wind will have mixed with the water, resulting in millions of air bubbles, each surrounded by a thin film of water (C). The water film around the bubble is held by the force called surface tension, by which molecules on a liquid surface tend to pull together. When you blow a soap bubble, the molecules in the soapy water are trying to hold together, and a round shape is the smallest one into which they can compress the air inside the bubble. Air bubbles in sea water are formed in much the same way. Millions of air bubbles form the white mass called foam, which is white because the glistening air bubbles are reflecting light from all directions (C). As the foam falls down, it is pushed into the water below and usually comes boiling up onto the back of the next wave.

(Robert Ranieri, Jr. of Hoboken, N.J., wins a prize for this question. You can win $10 cash plus AP's handsome World Yearbook if your question, mailed on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of this newspaper, is selected for a prize.)

For World Saga Ended Friday

Astronauts To Be Home With Families On Sunday

By HARRY F. ROSENTHAL
Associated Press Writer
SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — For the world the fantastic moon saga of Apollo 8 ended Friday with the ship's Pacific Ocean splashdown. For the families of the three astronauts it won't end until 5 a.m. EST Sunday.

That's when planes will return Air Force Col. Frank Borman, Navy Capt. James A. Lovell Jr., and Air Force Maj. William A. Anders to Ellington Air Force Base near the Manned Spacecraft Center in Houston.

"Frank's coming home," said Mrs. Borman Friday. "That's all that we're looking for."

In the crush of well-wishers that jammed their homes, the three wives still found time for private conversation with their husbands over special space agency telephones installed in each home.

"It was just great," said Valerie Anders, of her talk with her husband aboard the USS Yorktown.

Borman will find the youngest of his two teen-aged sons with a broken left hand. No one would say how it got broken.

And Anders' 4-year-old son Eric—the youngest of five children—was in bed with 102-degree temperature, but was allowed to come into the living room to watch the splashdown on television.

A Mass at the Anders home after splashdown was recited by the Rev. Dennis Berry, a family friend from La Mesa, Calif., the astronaut's hometown. Mrs. Lovell went to Communion early the morning of splashdown and Mrs. Borman's minister was in the Borman house at that anxiety-filled time.

This Christmas, which she spent without her husband, meant to her "the reality that we can get along together and have a deep and abiding faith in each other," Mrs. Borman said.

She said she thought the flight would bring the world closer. "This is our hope," she said. "This was their message to the world—we've got to get together."

Mrs. Anders said, "I really feel this peace on earth, good will toward men coming this far from a lot of people—not only from friends, but from friends of friends."

"I feel very humble, very full of gratitude."

And Mrs. Lovell said no word in the dictionary can describe how she felt.

"I am so proud of my country that enabled my husband to carry out this mission. It's incredible to believe he's been there (the moon)," she said. "I can't wait to see the pictures when he gets back. It's just been fantastic."

One of the first to telephone his congratulations to the families was President Johnson.

"We are so proud of your husbands and so thankful they are back," the President said. "This has achieved so much for your country throughout the world. I know that nobody is as proud as you three girls who did so much to bring it about."

Nobody was.

Cook Warns Kroger On 'Game' In Toledo

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio Liquor Department Director Donald D. Cook said Friday that the Kroger Co. has "quietly folded" its promotional games in all Ohio cities except Toledo.

And Cook warned that if the game, "Sure Thing," is not halted in the Toledo area, the stores involved holding liquor permits will be issued permit violation citations next week.

Last week the Franklin County Court of Appeals upheld a lower court decision that the promotional games were a violation of Ohio's liquor laws.

Cook said the grocery chain has not advised his department about the game's future. He said that in the meantime, the department would hold up 347 permit renewals and issuance of 20 new permits at Kroger stores.

Teacher Composes Mass Honoring Slain Dr. King

DETROIT (AP) — From sermons to symphony.

That's the route Dr. Martin Luther King's words have taken for a teacher who composed a requiem Mass honoring the assassinated civil rights leader.

"I felt Dr. King based his non-violent philosophy on peace," said James Frazier, explaining why he made the Mass his medium for the tribute. "He also was concerned with death—and so I could find the appropriate words for a requiem Mass narrative which is also concerned with peace and death."

Frazier, 28, a high school music and biology teacher, four years ago became the first Negro to conduct the Detroit Symphony Orchestra in full concert.

The premier of Frazier's work with him conducting the orchestra in a special concert was scheduled Jan. 5, but was postponed because many members of the participating choirs became ill with flu.

Frazier, who also is musical director at Detroit's Second Baptist Church, said, "There's nothing in the Negro's ethnic background to say he can't use classical music as well as any other kind."

He began work on the King requiem this summer at Tanglewood, Mass., in an effort to combine his church and orchestra work.

"I'm really a conductor and not a lyricist or librettist," he said, "and with the Mass the lyrics were already there."

"What I've really done is go through all Dr. King's sermons and speeches looking for words that were characteristic and would fit the theme. It helped to have seen him in person a few times and listened to him so many others."

Akron Paper Gives Mine Disaster Check

FARMINGTON, W. Va. (AP) —The Akron (Ohio) Beacon Journal has presented a check for $2,500 to the Citizens No. 9 Disaster Fund.

The money, added to the more than $97,000 already collected by the fund, will be used on an emergency basis and as an educational trust fund for children of the 78 coal miners killed last month at nearby Mountaineer No. 9 mine.

Presentation of the check Friday to Philip Gango, chairman of the fund, was made by Donovan McClure, former Journal writer and presently staff assistant to Sec. of State-elect John D. "Jay" Rockefeller.

Wetzel Pledges Aid On Fund For Pottery Museum

State Rep. Clarence L. Wetzel of near Lisbon promised East Liverpool civic leaders Friday afternoon at a meeting in City Hall that he will work for official allocation of $100,000 to help establish an Ohio Pottery Museum here.

Wetzel conferred with representatives of the East Liverpool Historical Society, which operates a museum in the Carnegie Public Library, as well as spokesmen for the City Planning Commission and other agencies. A similar pledge of aid in earmarking the funds was made about a week ago by State Sen.-elect Douglas Applegate of Steubenville.

The former post office building at Broadway and E. 5th St. has been mentioned as a site for the state-sponsored Pottery Museum, also incorporating exhibits from the present museum in the library. Wetzel said it may be possible to establish a need for $300,000 for renovation of the former post office.

Gov. James A. Rhodes pledged last year that $100,000 would be set aside for establishment of the Ohio Pottery Museum if voters approved a statewide bond issue for capital improvements. The issue was approved.

Midland OK's 1969 Budget Living Costs Jumped .4% In November

MIDLAND (AP) — Living costs rose another four-tenths of one per cent last month, continuing the sharpest price spiral since 1951, the government reported.

Although grocery prices dropped five-tenths of one per cent in November, sharp increases for housing, clothing, transportation and medical care pushed the Labor Department's consumer price index up to 123.4.

The index figure means it cost $12.34 in November for every $10 worth of typical family purchases in the 1957-59 base period.

The price index rose 4.8 per cent during the first 11 months of 1968 and Asst. Commissioner Arnold Chase of the Bureau of Labor Statistics said the 1968 rise will probably wind up at about that level.

This would be the largest increase in consumer prices since the 5.9 increase in 1951 during the Korean war.

The regular meeting will be Jan. 8.

Pittsburgh Council Adopts 6-Mill Tax

PITTSBURGH (AP) — City Council has adopted a controversial six-mill tax on hospitals and colleges to help support a record $94,804,164 budget for the coming year.

The tax measure strongly opposed by institution officials who claimed it would hike medical and tuition costs.

The budget was a little over $800,000 higher than the original spending plan submitted by Mayor Joseph M. Barr. About $600,000 of the extra spending is due to a 10 per cent pay raise for the mayor, councilmen and non-uniformed employees.

In addition to the institution levy, council adopted a new six-mill business privilege tax and increased the parking tax from 10 to 15 per cent and water rates by 10 per cent.

For World Saga Ended Friday

Astronauts To Be Home With Families On Sunday

By HARRY F. ROSENTHAL
Associated Press Writer

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — For the world the fantastic moon saga of Apollo 8 ended Friday with the ship's Pacific Ocean splashdown. For the families of the three astronauts it won't end until 5 a.m. EST Sunday.

That's when planes will return Air Force Col. Frank Borman, Navy Capt. James A. Lovell Jr., and Air Force Maj. William A. Anders to Ellington Air Force Base near the Manned Spacecraft Center in Houston.

"Frank's coming home," said Mrs. Borman Friday. "That's all that we're looking for."

In the crush of well-wishers that jammed their homes, the three wives still found time for private conversation with their husbands over special space agency telephones installed in each home.

"It was just great," said Valerie Anders, of her talk with her husband aboard the USS Yorktown.

Borman will find the youngest of his two teen-aged sons with a broken left hand. No one would say how it got broken.

And Anders' 4-year-old son Eric—the youngest of five children—was in bed with 102-degree temperature, but was allowed to come into the living room to watch the splashdown on television.

A Mass at the Anders home after splashdown was recited by the Rev. Dennis Berry, a family friend from La Mesa, Calif., the astronaut's hometown. Mrs. Lovell went to Communion early the morning of splashdown and Mrs. Borman's minister was in the Borman house at that anxiety-filled time.

This Christmas, which she spent without her husband, meant to her "the reality that we can get along together and have a deep and abiding faith in each other," Mrs. Borman said.

She said she thought the flight would bring the world closer. "This is our hope," she said. "This was my message to the world—we've got to get together."

Mrs. Anders said, "I really feel this peace on earth, good will toward men coming this far from a lot of people—not only from friends, but from friends of friends."

"I feel very humble, very full of gratitude."

And Mrs. Lovell said no word in the dictionary can describe how she felt.

"I am so proud of my country that enabled my husband to carry out this mission. It's incredible to believe he's been there (the moon)," she said. "I can't wait to see the pictures when he gets back. It's just been fantastic."

One of the first to telephone his congratulations to the families was President Johnson.

"We are so proud of your husbands, and so thankful they are back," the President said. "This has achieved so much for your country throughout the world. I know that nobody is as proud as you three girls who did so much to bring it about."

Nobody was.
